Rumania Yields to Soviet Ultimatum For Bessarabia to Avert Balkan War

Carol Orders Mobilization As Precaution

(By Associated Press)

Under a stiff Russian ultimatum, King Carol II of Rumania ordered a precautionary mobilization today, diplomatic quarters in Bucharast reported, and —while yielding in principle—pleaded for time beyond the expiration of the "deadline" at 10 p. m. (3 p. m., EST) to dicker on Russia's demands.

The king, it was said, has decided to give in rather than precipitate a war in the Balkans—Europe's traditional "powderkeg"—but wants to negotiate on the Kremlin's demands for a cession of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina and control of two ports.

Diplomatic quarters did not expect that Russia would tolerate any delay. The Red army was reported to have massed great swarms of planes, troops and tanks ready to pour across Rumania's northern frontier at the zero hour.

A general re-alignment in the Balkans appeared under way as Hungary and Bulgaria eyed Rumania's impending capitulation to the Kremlin and recalled old territorial claims against Carol's kingdom.

Budapest reported that Premier Teleki has received a letter from Adolf Hitler saying Hungary's claims "will be met."

Rumania has an active army estimated at 800,000 men and approximately 1,000,000 trained reserves.

Meanwhile, as more English spokesmen hinted at plans for a British offensive against the Axis powers, authoritative sources in Rome said Italian troops, planes and warships may take part in the projected German attack on the British Isles, emulating the exploits of Caesar's Roman legions nearly 2,000 years ago.

The Soviet ultimatum, timed for expiration at 10 p. m. today (3 p. m. EST) also demanded rail bases at Rumania's Black sea harbor of Constanta and at certain Danube points, diplomatic quarters in Bucharest said.

Authoritative reports said Germany and Italy consented to the Soviet demand on Rumania in a "deal" to pay for Russia's pressure to keep Turkey from joining the Allies and for Soviet economic aid to the Axis powers.

Russian planes bombed villages in Rumania's eastern province of Bessarabia, dispatches said, and one Soviet plane was shot down.

The Russian demands were said to be based on the plane-shooting incident, but unconfirmed reports earlier this week said infantry skirmishes between Rumanian and Russian troops had occurred in the province. Bessarabia belonged to Russia before the World war.

In the main European struggle, British bombers inflicted "very heavy attacks" on Germany's rich industrial region of the Ruhr, London reported.

PEACE RUMORS NOT BELIEVED

Writer Thinks Sir Samuel Hoare Merely Feeling Enemy's Pulse.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Writer)

You probably have heard the rumors which have been going the rounds to the effect that a peace between Britain and Germany is in the making.

These have been cropping up in various places. Yesterday for instance there was the report that Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain, had broached the question of peace through the Spanish government. This morning a Berlin radio commentator said the British were trying to contact the Axis powers, presumably for peace negotiations.

There has been no substantiation of any of these reports.

NOMINATED

Ex-North Dakota Governor Named Senate Candidate.

FARGO, N. D. — (AP) — William Langer, twice governor of North Dakota, is the choice of the Republican party in that state for U. S. senator.

The former chief executive won the nomination for that office in Tuesday's primary election, defeating Lynn J. Frazier, who served in the senate 18 years, and State Sen. Thomas Whelan.

His opponent in the November election will be Charles Vogel of Fargo, who easily won the Democratic nomination.

With 1,852 of the state's 2,257 precincts reported Langer had a total of 51,217 votes to 42,523 for Frazier and 38,061 for Whelan.

OFFICER BRINGS 'EM BACK ALIVE

Report Of Drowning Fails To Turn Back Sleuth.

HAZARD, Ky. —(AP)— Deputy Marshal Andrew Combs believes in bringing them back alive — even if they're supposed to be dead.

He proved it by locating and arresting a man who had been reported drowned in this section's "flash flood" a year ago.

END CONVENTION

CINCINNATI —(AP)— American Optometric association delegates closed their 43rd annual convention here yesterday with election of Dr. John E. Corbett of Boston as president and Dr. Frank A. Stengel of Marion, treasurer. The 1941 convention will be held in Atlantic City, N. J.

Governor Leads Taft Demonstration

Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, holding the Ohio banner, led the 20-minute demonstration that followed the presentation of the name of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio before the Republican national convention as a candidate for the G. O. P. presidential nomination. Following the nominating speech by Editor Grove Patterson of Toledo, numerous state delegations, led by the Ohio delegates with Governor Bricker at their head, paraded around the Philadelphia convention floor while the organ blared and the delegates and galleryites cheered.

Map $94,000 Program to Curb Basement 'Floods'

Council Committee, Engineers to Meet Monday on New Sewer Lines for North and East Side.

City council's finance committee had under consideration today a $94,000 sanitary sewer improvement program designed to relieve at least a portion of the city's water-in-the-cellar problem.

The project, to be discussed with city officials and consulting engineers from Marion Monday, is part of a $362,000 rehabilitation program recommended last year following a survey made of the sewer system.

As prepared by the Marion firm of Floyd G. Browne and Associates, the project is set up to include WPA assistance and would furnish the government agency with a fall and winter project following completion of the West Fourth street paving.

Major portion of the cost would be borne by the government which would supply approximately $58,600, most of which would be for labor.

The city's share has been estimated at $36,850 for materials, including the purchase of the pipe.

Would Issue Bonds.

The finance committee has been studying a plan of appropriating a $20,000 sanitary sewer fund surplus along with the issuance of about $16,000 in general bonds to defray the city's cost.

The project to be discussed Monday calls for construction of a 36-inch sewer from the sewage treatment plant to East Sixth street with a 15-inch branch on East Fourth street from Wayne street to Ashland road, and a 12-inch branch on Wayne street from Orange street to the intercepter.

STILL IN COMA

Mansfielder, Unconscious For 72 Hours, Has Slim Chance.

Injured early Sunday morning when the automobile he was driving collided with a taxi, William Hayes, 30, of 41 Cleveland avenue was still unconscious today, 72 hours after the accident.

Physicians who said he suffered a fracture at the base of his skull described his condition as "critical." They gave him little chance to recover.

EXPLOSION, FIRE HIT CRESTLINE

Two Buildings Destroyed In Business District; State Asked to Make Inquiry.

CRESTLINE—A mysterious explosion in a one-foot areaway between two frame business buildings today started a fire which destroyed both buildings at Bucyrus and Seltzer streets.

The Marquart News stand operated by Carl Marquart, and the Keg House, a night club operated by Charles Spaid, were destroyed by the blast and resulting blaze.

The explosion occurred about 2:30 a. m., and firemen fought the flames until 8 a. m., confining their work to protection of a row of frame business houses in the same block.

Fire Chief R. W. Swarer said the cause of the blast was unknown. Men from the state fire marshal's office were expected here today to investigate.

The buildings were owned by Mrs. Howard Hosler, Highland avenue, Mansfield.

Plate glass windows of the two buildings were blown into the street and a magazine rack in the rear of the Marquart store was hurled through the front window by force of the explosion.

One truck was sent by the Galion fire department, but was not used in combating the flames. Chief Swarer did not give an estimate of damage immediately, but said he understood the loss was covered by insurance.

BRITISH HEAR NAZIS READY FOR INVASION

WAIT HITLER SPEECH

Fuehrer Expected to Open Way for Negotiations on Peace Terms.

BULLETIN

ROME — (AP) — Italian troops may join German forces in an attack on the British Isles, an authoritative source said today. He said Italian planes and warships also are believed likely to take part in the operation.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Germany today was reported concentrating a vast fleet of small ships in Nazi-occupied ports facing Great Britain—arousing intense speculation as to whether the hour was near for Adolf Hitler's expected blitzkrieg invasion of the British Isles.

Reports reaching United States sources in London said it was indicated that the predicted German attempt to invade Britain was near, while British parliamentary quarters reported that Hitler might make a speech tomorrow—the anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Versailles—opening the way for general peace negotiations.

Any such proposal, if Hitler speaks, would presumably be for peace on Nazi terms and in any event would be met with an unqualified rejection by the British government, these sources insisted.

Thereafter, it was believed, the Axis powers might launch their invasion attempt.

As a result, considerable importance was attached to reports that many small ships were concentrating in German-occupied ports in the North sea and elsewhere for a possible invasion of Britain, regardless of whether the German fuehrer speaks.

One report said that "hundreds"

Japan Claims No Intention of Entering Indo-China.

TOKYO—(AP via Aadio)—The authoritative Domei news agency broadcast a dispatch from Nanning, China, today declaring that, although Japanese troops are operating along the Chinese side of the Indo-China border, "Japanese forces have no intention of invading French Indo-China."

The report from Nanning, based on a Japanese field dispatch, said the Japanese seek merely to cut the supply route from Indo-China to the armies of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

FOUR DROPPED

Columbus Officials Suspended For Irregularities.

COLUMBUS —(AP)—Suspensions of officials in the city division of charities mounted to four today as investigators disclosed further irregularities in the distribution of surplus commodities.

Besides Supt. Ernest McMurray, Safety Director George M. Ward announced the suspension of Earl McElrover, building superintendent; Charles L. McColley, maintenance engineer, and Percy Briggs, supervisor of clothing distribution.

GOLD RUSH

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Discovery of several $5 and $2.50 gold pieces buried in a city storage yard has started another "gold rush" here. The coins dated 1852-53 were unearthed by sewer workers. Gold and silver coins worth $2,500 were found several months ago on the grounds. Finders were declared keepers.

Chairman Urges Single Session For Nomination

Taft Reported Heavy Favorite on Basis of Support From Hoover and Landon; Speeches for Candidates to Be Completed During Day.

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA—(INS)—Senator Robert A. Taft won a heavy favorite's role for the Republican presidential nomination today on rumors that he will receive endorsements from both former President Herbert Hoover and Governor Alf M. Landon before a decisive ballot is taken at the convention.

By LYLE C. WILSON
(UP Staff Correspondent)

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA—The Republican national convention drove toward the first ballot barrier today and Permanent Chairman Joseph W. Martin, jr., warned delegates that he is prepared for a lengthy session tonight in an attempt to get a nomination at one sitting.

Martin said he hoped the convention would pick a presidential candidate without delay to avoid charges that party leaders are stalling in an attempt to make the selection in a "smoke-filled" room.

Front runners on the convention's fourth day still were Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Wendell L. Willkie of New York. The first convention ballot is expected to show them running in that order.

The convention convened at 9:49 a. m. (EST) today, 49 minutes late.

Today's first convention business was the second installment of nomination oratory. Four candidates were placed before the assemblage last night. They were Dewey, Taft, Willkie and Frank E. Gannett, Rochester, N. Y., newspaper publisher.

Six more go up today. They are Hanford MacSnider of Iowa, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, Sen. H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Gov. Arthur James of Pennsylvania and Gov. Harlan J. Bushfield of South Dakota in that order.

The morning session was late getting under way, but Martin said he hoped to hold the delegates to a brisk pace. The remaining nominating speeches, seconding speeches and demonstrations were expected to consume about five hours. Martin then planned to grant a brief recess and proceed immediately to balloting.

If a presidential candiate is picked tonight, Martin said, the selection of a vice presidential nominee will be put over until tomorrow so "the delegates will have time to think it over."

As the hour for the first vote neared, Taft presented his personal prediction of the first ballot count. He forecast it would show: Taft, about 240 votes; Dewey, 320 votes; Willkie, 150. On the third or fourth ballot, he said, the convention would nominate him.

Gossip around the convention hall continued to speculate on the possibility of a coalition of Taft and Dewey forces resulting in

UPROAR: Fist Fights, Boos Follow Willkie Nomination

(By Associated Press)
By W. B. RAGSDALE

PHILADELPHIA — Wendell Willkie, the tousle-haired utility man whose name has started delegates' fists flying, today became the enigma of a Republican convention nearly ready to pick its presidential nominee.

Delegates were uncertain what to make of the turbulent situation. They saw a tremendous ovation, mingled with boos and fist fights, when Willkie was placed in nomination last night.

On the other side, they saw Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan calling on Herbert Hoover for talks described by some leaders as an effort to pool resources against Willkie.

The first ballot, on which Dewey and Taft are expected to lead, probably will come tonight after 10 names have been offered to the convention.

Willkie managers predicted his nomination quickly, but leaders for other candidates said his drive had been stopped.

The extent which the rivalry reached was demonstrated by an argument over whether Willkie backers had "packed" the galleries last night in order to stir up enthusiasm for their candidate.

Senator Taft told reporters that holders of 3,000 tickets issued by Samuel Pryor of Connecticut, chairman of the arrangements committee, had been instructed to cheer when Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana nominated Willkie.

Pryor called the statement ridiculous, asking:

DEFENSE: Republicans Build Hopes on Preparedness Plank

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA—Abandoning earlier talk of making domestic issues paramount, the Republican party started a campaign today to convince the voters that it had the best program to build adequate defenses and keep out of war.

In a platform speedily and noisily approved by the national convention yesterday, the Republicans designated themselves as the party of "Americanism, preparedness and peace."

While they avoided any direct reference to the Democratic party, they charged that the Roosevelt administration had attempted to send congress home "so that we might be eased into war by word or deed.

The Republicans, the platform said, are "firmly opposed to involving this nation in foreign war."

Asserting that "men who put America first" must be put in high positions, the 3,000-word campaign document advocated the extension of aid to "all peoples fighting for liberty, or whose liberty is threatened."

It said, however, that this aid must not infringe on the requirements of national defense or violate international law.

The platform contended that the New Deal had "failed America" by disclosing details of American military equipment to foreign powers over the protests of defense officials.

It asserted that the New Deal had "ignored" the lessons of modern, mechanized, armed defense and said that by President Roosevelt's own statements, "we are still wholly unprepared to defend our country."

TOLEDO EDITOR PRAISES TAFT AT CONVENTION

(By Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA — A fellow Ohioan urged Sen. Robert A. Taft's nomination for president before the Republican convention as the candidate "who knows the answers, a man who in a crisis knows what to do."

Grove Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, placed Ohio's "favorite son" before the convention formally, declaring "if our candidate is not the best backslapper, he has the best backbone."

Ohio offered Taft to the convention, said Patterson, because he is experienced in international affairs, has a constructive program" and is "an amazing vote-getter."

"The American people have become desperately tired of crooning, of glamor unsupported by achievement, of defense pretense instead of defense preparation," Patterson continued.

"They are ready for clear thinking, expression unafraid, honest conviction honestly expressed. Confronted by the bewildering problems of this day, there is no substitute for knowing what to do. In the storm and stress of life, there is no substitute for having the courage to do it.

"Our candidate, by natural habit and experience, faces hard facts with tranquility and without fear. He knows what to do and he is not afraid."

With European war and domestic defense problems spotlighting foreign relations throughout the convention, Patterson devoted much of his address to Taft's experience and qualifications for handling international affairs.

He cited the senator's contacts with foreign affairs from boyhood, as the son of a diplomat who later became president and also chief justice of the United States. He pointed to Taft's experience with the American relief administration and inter-Allied economic council during and after the World war and to his early advocacy of repealing the arms embargo.

"His work in devastated Europe, his common sense and courage in meeting foreign issues as they arose in the senate, and his program for national defense fit him, in mind and character, to guide American foreign policy," Patterson concluded.

Taft's victory in the 1938 Ohio senatorial primary and his subsequent defeat of Democrat Robert J. Bulkley in the election mark the Ohioan as "an amazing vote-getter," Patterson told the delegates, asserting it meant a turnover of nearly 800,000 votes despite "all the ingenuity of the New Deal high command."

"It can't happen here"?

...IT ALREADY HAS!

THE THING that happened before the fury of actual war broke over Europe, has already happened here.

Preceding the open war—there was a hidden war in Europe. This hidden war paved the way for the guns and bombs that came later—softened things up—made easy conquests by brute force, still easier.

And this hidden war is right with us here in America, today. —We thought it couldn't happen here—but it already has!

THE "WEAPONS" used in this hidden war are lies, deceit, treachery, false philosophies. They strike directly at our basic form of government—and are intended to do that very thing.

They are meant to destroy it—and we have permitted the attack upon our Liberty to grow and develop. We have been complacent in the very face of a deadly assault.

Open war, with all its horrors, might be called an "honest" thing—when compared with the treachery of the hidden war which is here in America today.

In actual war, you know and see your enemy—there is no pretense. The enemy doesn't pretend to be anything else. There's no subterfuge about it when the guns begin to roar. But in this hidden war, the traitors and enemies appear in the guise of "friends."

It is time we recognized these masqueraders for what they really are—time to stop and challenge their attack upon our great democracy. It is not a time for hysteria. What we need is cool, calm, determined thinking and action. Two things we can do, and do now, to strengthen our country—and add to its resources. We can think and talk the American way—and we can practice it by going right ahead with business until something else is needed.

HOW ABOUT the false philosophies these enemies preach? Are they better than the American philosophy and ideals? Where do they lead? Well, for one thing, they lead to war—actual war. That's been proven. And we want none of that.

But, what do we want? What does any man want? He wants peace, happiness, security for himself and his family—and a chance to get ahead. And this is what America means to its citizens—it is what America gives them.

NOWHERE ELSE are so many human beings included within the realm of human rights and individual opportunity. —The American standard of living is the highest yet achieved by the human race in the world's history. Americans demand more of life—and get more. Things that are luxuries elsewhere are everyday necessities in America—and nearly everybody has them.

And yet we are being told by traitors from within, and enemies from without, that there is something better —that we ought to abandon what we have and adopt something else.

PROBABLY you, yourself, haven't fully realized what America means to you and what it gives to you and your family. It will do you good to think about it—and then talk about it.

Make no mistake, the enemies of our democracy are here and at work, with lies, deceit and treachery.

We thought it couldn't happen here—but it has.

And we can stop it. Stop it by standing up and speaking up for America.

CHAPTER XI

Before ten o'clock she had come to her senses. She now knew exactly what course she would pursue. She would accept the fact that Rosemary loved Bob and that Bob probably loved Rosemary, that she herself loved Rosemary as a friend should, and, loved Bob with a deep and permanent longing which never never could be admitted now. Therefore, would encourage and even aid the other two, and for herself take silently whatever vicarious happiness she could. Seeing Bob and Rosemary happily married would at least rest her own spirit.

This conclusion came hard, by dint of strain and trial. But it was wholesome and sincere. Sue knew her own mind. She had strength of character. In fifteen minutes after she had reached the unselfish decision, fatigue and mental calm claimed her so that she went into sound sleep right on the leaves.

Presently a doe and twin fawns — beautiful creatures of the wilderness — came walking and browsing delicately along this shaded slope of the mountain, and never even discovered that the sleeping girl was there.

Down and around the slope of Navajo Mountain, the great physiographic mass on which rested Rosemary's trading post and on which lived Mr. McKee the chief forest ranger, was a camp of lumbermen working out logs for one of the state's many sawmills. Any hour of any day you could hear the echoing whi-i-i-i-ne of the saws and the belching staccato chuff-chuff-chuff-chuff-chuff of the engines, and if you moved closer you would hear the loud and often ribald talk of the men. A total of eighty workers labored there, brawny bewhiskered axe wielders or more skilled mechanics, and all of them lived in a crude sort of dormitory which they called, not inaptly, the Hell Hole.

Robert King, forest ranger, made it a point to ride his horse through the camp as often as possible when on duty in this area. He knew that lumberjacks can be more contemptuous of danger than any other type of men, and so would be careless with their matches and fires. His trips were made with official backing, for even the lumberjacks' employers needed every protection from forest fires.

"Hi, ranger!" this one roared. "What's news?"

"Bascom, how are you?" Bob was careful to be genial. It is a better way than resting on official formality. "No news especially. How's the work going?"

"Hell fire, these lousy ——" the foreman described his men with obscene words, "can't work logs any better'n a bunch puny-legged babies. It's a hell of a life."

Bob laughed. "Hmmm, what you need, Bascom, is a visit out into civilization. How long since you been in town?"

"Six weeks — and that's too damned long!"

"Probably so. What about supplies — say listen, Bascom!" Bob suddenly had an idea. "You get most of your supplies by truck from Flagstaff, I know. But don't you need a lot of day-to-day stuff? And, if the price was right, couldn't you switch some of that bulk buying to another place?"

"I can buy it wherever I damn please. Why?"

"Well, listen—how about dropping in at the trading post?"

"Old Coulter's place?"

"Yes. Only he's dead and gone. A woman owns it now. A girl."

"Yeah?"

"Fact. Fine girl, Bascom. Needs the trade. She's a New Yorker and not too much at home out here. Tell her I sent you, and make her Indian figure you a close price."

"She a good looker? . . . Ahh?" The man Bascom grinned, but it scarcely showed through the black hairs that held his mouth in concealment.

"Pretty as a year-old filly!" Bob smiled in memory. "Well, I'll be riding on, Bascom. Many thanks. You keep the fire hazards down, please, and the Forest Service'll damn sure be your friend. Make the men be careful. I can't overemphasize that. So long."

Bascom said no farewell, but he gazed after the young and trimly uniformed ranger riding away. Bob looked boyish in comparison with such a man as the lumberjack foreman. Bascom must weigh a good 230 pounds, which was 55 pounds more than Bob. Uncut and unkempt hair added a ferocious appearance.

Bascom gave thought to Bob's call all that afternoon.

Any interruption in the lumber camp routine was welcome. Any that didn't delay the work. Bob's call, brief though it was, had been a pleasing distraction —especially since he had mentioned a pretty girl.

A prety girl. A New York girl.

Ward Bascom, grinning as he thought of the conversation at supper time, wiped his hand across his stubby whiskers and chuckled a little to himself. Bascom was not a dreamer or much of a thinker, but his thoughts had been rather absorbing He snarled at some of the men who sought only to be sociable in the common camp way, and so he was let alone.

He slept heavily, but next morning he was back with his thoughts again. A pretty girl. A new York girl. Tell her to give you a close price on your supplies. She needs customers.

A pretty girl. A New York girl. Bascom grinned and chuckled often this morning.

After noon he set the men to work as usual, bawled at some of them in the foulest language, then told his asssitant to take charge.

"I aim to be gone for a while," Bascom explained. "Maybe all night. I'll order up the cook's groceries and take along this list of tools we need. You keep the work movin'."

He didn't bother to change his dirty clothes, nor even to bathe or wash his face or comb his hair. He went to his company-owned car and swung out along the narrow truck trail, dodging stumps and trees with deft twists of the steering wheel. He felt good. A pretty girl. A girl from New York.

Bascom chuckled again in his ugly whiskers, whipping the car to a faster speed.

Bookkeeping is one of the finer arts or sciences which mystifies most women and a lot of men. Rosemary Taylor knew something of the relatively simple records kept in the New York law offices, but she had no knowledge whatsoever of how to keep books for a general store. "Books" for old Coulter's trading post had been nonexistent. They were still nonexistent when Rosemary inherited the establishment and came to take possession. And when careful-thinking Dr. Archibald Montgomery, Rosemary's friend and business counsel, came this afternoon with a complete plan for financing the building of tourist cabins, of course it was necessary to request a look at the firm's records.

"Why, I really don't know, Monty," Rosemary answered his polite query, looking like a child at him. "Should there be some books?"

Monty thought he hadn't understood.

"I beg pardon?" he said. "You mean—?"

"I don't know anything about any books. Goodness, I'll have to ask Walpi. I ask the poor soul everything else, it seems"

Together they went to the store manager and chief clerk. They had to talk at some length to make him understand. The books, the records. The purchase orders and check stubs and receipts and inventories and invoices and everything. Dr. Montgomery was courteous but insistent, while Rosemary looked on wide-eyed.

All at once Walpi Tom smiled broadly.

"Walpi catch how you mean!" he exclaimed. "Is here sure. You come?"

He led them back to the rear of the store—and pointed to a flat expanse of bare pine wall. Dr. Montgomery leaned to inspect it closely, not understanding.

"But Walpi, is this—where are the books? The records?" Rosemary looked at her hired man.

"Is here say which white man owe, is there say which Indian owe, and is there below say which man much no good no have credit." Walpi pointed to three sets of odd symbols, penciled sketches which might have been hieroglyphics chiseled on a rock cliff. He was very serious about it; plainly he felt it important.

Rosemary squelched a smile. But when she looked at Monty and beheld the look of consternation on him, she almost broke into laughter. Fortunately Walpi's back was turned.

"But Walpi," Monty began, "can you—ah, translate this? Is this all the records for the entire store? This is most irregular!"

Truly it was most irregular, but in ten minutes probing they had to be convinced. No other records existed! They went back to the mystic symbols, Monty and Rosemary deeply interested in spite of the fact that Monty's sense of business correctness was outraged.

"Whatever does this circle mean, with the three dots beside it?" asked Rosemary pointing to one symbol.

"Is man with three wart on face," Walpi explained, indicating his own hairless chin. "Is big wart, two little wart. Is good man, he pay. He come in two week. Round circle is cheese he buy."

Cheese. A round cheese. That made sense, crude as it was, Rosemary admitted, smiling in amusement.

"Is grindstone."

"Oh!"

There was a lot more of it. The two whites were entranced. Monty declared it was material for a monograph to be sent the "Yale Review" or other literary publication, and he intended to write it. But meanwhile he would certainly see to the setting up of an orderly set of paleface books for the post!

The affair made a delightful interlude for Rosemary, and by two o'clock she and Monty were huddled together over a table in a corner of the store. The whole business structure was under discussion.

He voted flatly her suggestion to install modern plate glass showcases, for instance.

"They are out of harmony in a trading post," he explained, with real logic. "There is order in the merchandise, I have noted, although it is not apparent at a glance. The place had an old-times sales appeal which is in keeping with its setting and name. Even you have taken to wearing a Chimayo Indian jacket, Rosemary, and I must say it is highly becoming. Let me recommend a belt of silver conchos and some of the prettier Navajo jewelry as well. Perhaps even a strip of the colored velvet around your hair. People will like it. People trade with merchants they like, I assure you."

"Thank you, Monty. I'll make a squaw of myself."

"Monty, we've had better business this week than last."

"That's fine. I have taken the liberty to ask a gasoline equipment salesman to call. Walpi loafs considerably, I observed. He might just as well be selling gasolines and oils to motorists. Also, a gas pump is an added lure to stop and buy other merchandise."

"But a modern gas pump wouldn't be in harmony with the rustic trading post you insist upon, Monty!"

He smiled at her again.

"It needn't appear modern. We shall, ah, conceal it. In a special little blockhouse tower built of logs—here, I have a pencil sketch of it. Logs are cheap. Walpi can hire some of his brother Indians to bring in enough for a dollar or two."

"Yes! Monty, you think of everything! You're a darling!"

She said it impersonally, and yet the words struck into him with electric depth. Few girls had ever complimented Archibald Montgomery, certainly few had ever showed such appreciation or called him endearing names, even casually. He knew it was impersonal; and yet it sent his very soul atingling.

She added fuel to the spiritual blaze she had created by moving around and stooping very near to him. Her side touched his shoulder, and he could feel the ends of her curly hair brushing his own head. It was entirely an unconscious intimacy, Rosemary studying the pencil sketch with close interest, but Monty's heart was beating inordinately fast. He noted the sweet scent of her, a strange feminine freshness, subtle and faint and infinitely powerful as well. He swallowed hard and forced his attention back to the paper before them. He had a lot of notes spread there.

"Give me a half hour," said he, "and I will list a complete set of bookkeeping forms for you, and the essentials for the gasoline pump and tank, if you approve. You can then see just what costs and labor estimates will amount to."

"All right. Gee, Monty!"

She went away from him then so that he could work undisturbed. And seeing her approach, Walpi Tom asked if he might be gone for an hour or two. He had been so faithful, and at this midafternoon period few customers came anyhow, so she gave him smiling assent. She herself would tend counter, wait on any chance trade.

She was standing arms akimbo, staring up at some shelves of assorted dress goods and fabrics that the women of the mountain region bought, when the first customer came in. He wanted a new axe and she sold it to him for $2.75, a good tool which he carried out to his car as if he were accustomed to trading there.

FORMER QUEEN OF SEAS NOW TRAMP VESSEL

South Seas Beauty Returns to Old Haunts as Hag of Yesterday.

OAKLAND, Cal —(INS)— Back to the South Seas, of which she once was queen, will go the famous old three-masted barque Star of Finland within a few months.

The gleaming white, clipper-hulled sailing vessel once was the pride of the South Pacific. She was named the Leilani when built in 1899. Her luxurious staterooms housed world-famous personages as she plied between South Seas islands

But came the era of steam, and the fleet-winged ship was unable to compete financially. In 1910 she was sold to the Alaska Packers, and for many years she was pressed into the degrading service of hauling supplies to the Alaska fishing grounds and returning with cargoes of fish.

A brief return to glory, when she "starred" in two motion pictures, and then the Star of Finland was moored in Oakland Estuary.

Now she has been purchased by the South Pacific Trading Company. After complete overhauling, she will take a load of lumber at Vancouver and sail to Manila, her new home port.

From there she will begin all over again, as a "sail tramp," going to any South Pacific port where she can get a cargo. Her old skipper, Capt. H. H. Johnson, is to continue in command.

CHILDREN'S THEATER, JUNIOR WORKSHOP MAP ACTIVITIES

The Children's Theater and Junior Workshop will launch their summer programs Monday at Country Day school, when classes in theater open and rehearsals get under way for the first of four major productions to be presented this summer

First of the plays will be "Birthday of The Infanta," poetical drama by Oscar Wilde. "Manikin and Minikin" by Kremyborg and "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be other presentations and the fourth play will be a revival of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," staged in the 1890 manner. The plays will be given in South park and in the Dickson gardens.

Classes in all phases of theater work will be given during the summer, with Harold McCuen as director and Miss Josephine Hughes as his assistant.

There will be a class in costume and scene designing and others in microphone and direction; playwriting, directing and acting; make-up and costumes; creative dramatics in which children will write and direct their own plays; choral reading which embodies verse choir work and training in group speaking; and there will be daily round table discussions in each class with students taking the initiative.

Small plays will be put on throughout the summer as a part of class work and will be under the direction of the Workshop group. Later in July, interpretative dancing and pantomime will be added with a professional instructor.

Classes will be held daily from 9 to 12 a m for students from 6 to 9 years; and from 2 to 4 p. m. for those between 10 and 17 years.

Three Join Navy, Five Apply for Reserve Corps

Three young men from the Mansfield area who enlisted recently in the U. S. Navy have been transferred to the U. S. Naval training station at Newport, R. I., for a period of training, navy officers announced today.

They include Angleo Mott, 297 Sturges avenue, Mansfield; Clarence H. Lee, Willard, and Forest F. Pifer, R. D. 1, Ashland.

Five applicants from Mansfield and Crestline sought today to enlist in the U. S. Naval Communication reserve, Commander E. L. Heck of the Ninth district said. They were:

Jack Hamilton, rear of 162 West Fifth street, for yeomen service; Martin Merschdorf, 510 Cline avenue, for pharmacist mate; Frank Edwards, rear of 110 West First street, for radioman; Ralph Cash, Crestline, for radioman, and N. R. McAllister, Crestline, for yeoman service.

Commander Heck said he would continue to receive applications at the Galion Naval Communication Reserve headquarters until naval recruiting officers arrive within a few days.

Lots For Sale

Folks!
Don't Overlook the Opportunity Offered In Coolridge Heights

Several fine young married couples have purchased home sites and we are now building them homes in this beautiful sub-division. It will pay you to investigate the possibilities and see the growth and rapid development which is taking place in this location. All of which spells increased value to the early buyers. We are offering these large home sites with winding drives, paved streets, water, gas, and electricity, also sensible restrictions. These home sites are artistically laid out and afford a beautiful view of the entire city. Handy to the schools, factories and down town district. Just an ideal place for you and your family. We have several homes under construction for your inspection and all kinds of designs of modernistic houses. We can build you just what you want. Come out and choose your site and let us assist you in picking out the house that will meet your needs and let us explain how easy it is to own your own home and get started in COOLRIDGE HEIGHTS. Come any evening between 6 and 8 p. m. or call us and we will be glad to call for you at your convenience.

INDIGNANT

Alabama Bootlegger Claims Georgian Cheated.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(AP)— An indignant Alabama bootlegger searched for the Georgia moonshiner who short measured him on 40 5-gallon cans of purported Georgia moonshine whisky.

Federal Alcohol Tax Unit Director Joe Rollins said the bootlegger complained to federal agents that he paid $250 for the whisky after being allowed to make the "taste test" of thrusting a finger into each can and sampling the contents.

Later the bootlegger said he found that the moonshiner had soldered a pint container inside the mouth of each 5-gallon can and filled it with whisky. The remainder of the can was filled with creek water.

FUNDS RELEASED

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Cylon W. Wallace, state registrar of motor vehicles, today released $440,000 of the license tag equalization fund to the 88 counties, each to receive $5,000.

Boston Displays 'Lost Painting' For First Time

BOSTON—(INS)—The Boston Museum of Fine Arts is displaying Rubens' powerful canvas "Portrait of Mulay Ahmad," the first time this well-known work has been presented in a public gallery.

The painting, which had been "lost" for more than 40 years, was purchased from the collection of John Wanamaker, of Lindenhurst.

Identity of the picture was made by Dr. Julius S. Held, noted art critic.

Dr. Held said he believed the portrait was a copy made from the lost original by Jan Vermeyen, a Dutch painter who took part in the expedition to Tunis under Charles V in 1535, and who was commissioned by Charles to make a series of tapestries commemorating the event and affirming his role as protector of Christianity.

Mulay Ahmad, represented in the painting, was the son of Mulay Hasan about whom more is perhaps known than of the son, since he was also involved in the punitive expedition to Tunis.

While Politicians Wrangle They Sit--and Knit

$54,366 Already Paid With Collection Not Scheduled to Start Till Monday.

When John E. Kolb, Richland county treasurer, opens the real estate tax books Monday he will already have collected about one-tenth of the tax bill for the last half of the year.

Advance collections today amounted to $54,366 and by Monday they are expected to pass the $60,000 mark. It will be the best start for a half-year tax collection in the county in recent years.

The total tax bill for the period will be more than $800,000. More than $200,000, however, represents delinquent levies which the treasurer hopes to collect on the "installment plan" or through the sale of property at sheriff's auction.

The treasurer sees in the big advance collection an indication that property owners are becoming "tax paying conscious," preferring to pay their semi-annual tax bill as soon as possible so they won't forget it.

Mail Notices Help.

Then it is easier to remember to pay when statements showing the amount of the tax due are mailed out, Kolb said. Much of the early tax money was paid by mail, since the statements also eliminate the necessity of going to the courthouse to learn how much tax is due for the half year.

Persons who plan to be out of the city on vacation during the tax-paying period make up a considerable part of those who are paying now. Their payments were accepted early as a convenience for them, the treasurer added.

Tax payments will be accepted without penalty until Aug. 20.

5 COWS HIGH IN BUTTERFAT

Guernseys In Black Herd Complete Production Records.

Five Guernsey cows in the herd of Roger A Black, Mansfield, have completed production records entitling them to admission to the advanced register of the American Guernsey Cattle club, officials of the club announced today.

Best producers in the group were a four-and-a-half-year-old cow whose record showed 14,058 pounds of milk and 702.1 pounds of butterfat in approximately a year and a three-and-a-half-year old animal which produced 14,380 pounds of milk and 670 4 pounds of butterfat in the same period.

ODD MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)—A collection of 120 primitive musical instruments, described as the finest of its kind in America, has been presented to the Franklin Institute by Mrs. George W. Childs Drexel.

Mrs. Drexel spent 20 years gathering the instruments in African, Asiatic and South Sea ports.

The collection includes marriage and funeral drums, Pan's pipes of metal and wood, flutes and horns of reeds, and elephant tusks, pottery tom-toms, ceremonial rattles and tambourines.

GIRLS SEW FOR WAR REFUGEES

At 9 a. m. tomorrow Junior Red Cross girls will meet at the chapter office in the Bowers building, Main and Fourth streets, for instructions. Miss Lucille Lorow, member of the Junior Red Cross school sponsors, will be in charge of the work.

Beginners will be taught to knit on small square blocks which can be sewed into afghans and scarfs, while advanced knitters will work on sweaters and socks. Later they will be taught to make new garments.

In the next few weeks the Juniors will work two days a week, but if enough children are interested in war relief work, this will be increased to three days a week, Miss Lorow said.

INDIANS LOYAL

Offer to Protect Country Against Invasion.

GALLUP, N. M.—(INS)—Any foreign powers contemplating an invasion of America better be prepared to feel the effects of ferocious warfare as only the American Indians can conduct it. In fact they better read up on American history and learn about the cunning and viciousness of early American Indians, because the Navajo Indians of Gallup have just passed a resolution pledging "loyalty to the government with armed defense if necessary."

Led by the elders of the Navajo Indian tribe, the tribal council unanimously adopted by a rousing vote a resolution banning any evidences of un-American subversive activities among the Indians and defense of America.

Four hundred Indian spectators cheered as the vote was cast. Many of the members of the tribal council are veterans of the last war and they spoke with patriotic intensity for national defense.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1940.

In politics and elsewhere, people frequently "agree in principle" but fight over phraseology.

At least one observer, after looking around, contends that it isn't a "youth" problem but a "parent" problem.

Pledge Preparedness for Peace

THE REPUBLICAN party platform, as adopted in Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, presents to the nation a statement of principles and purposes with which there will probably be little disagreement.

That is the common experience with political party platforms, however, and there is always a question as to the serious intent, or ability, of either party to carry out its platform pledges, more particularly since the amazing departure of the Roosevelt administration from the Democratic platform promises of 1932.

Considered only as a sincere declaration of party principles, the Republican platform as finally formulated, gives the impression of being a thoughtfully prepared document, intended to point the way toward improvement within the nation, and also to safeguard the United States, insofar as possible, against foreign aggression or the entrance by this country into a foreign war.

It was on foreign policy that platform makers were in greatest disagreement as the platform was being prepared and the sections devoted to this subject seem to reflect the views of a considerable majority of the people of this country—"a sympathetic interest in all oppressed people everywhere who are struggling to establish or maintain their homes and their liberties"—but a determination that the United States shall send no soldiers abroad.

"National defense is vital to our existence as a nation of free people," the platform asserts, in pledging the party to uphold the Monroe doctrine and in declaring for the prompt, orderly and realistic strengthening of national defense.

In its arraignment of the Roosevelt administrations, and New Deal inefficiency and wastefulness, the platform pronouncements are along lines that might have been expected and on which the Republican party, and its nominee for the presidency, will go before the country during the campaign.

All that is awaited is the choice of a standard bearer, and it is to this task that the Philadelphia convention is now devoted.

Thousand Years of Democracy

HITLER is believed to have his eye on Iceland as one of the next countries to take as soon as he gets around to it. He would probably get much satisfaction out of such an accomplishment.

Iceland is the oldest democracy in the world. The Icelander's parliament, the Althing, was founded more than one thousand years ago, when Grim Goatbeard the Law Giver stood on a great table rock on Thingvellir Plain and recited from memory the statutes the people had agreed among themselves to live by.

Today the government of Iceland consists of a premier and his cabinet and the Althing of 49 members, divided into two chambers. If the chambers disagree they meet together and abide by a two-thirds vote.

Iceland has always prided herself on her policy of utter neutrality. In fact, at the time of her millennial celebration, when the King of Denmark was about to arrive it was suddenly realized that there were no guns for the royal salute. A Danish warship had to be borrowed for the purpose. Hitler wouldn't understand that.

Parking On Narrow Streets

WHILE the subject of restricting parking to one side of narrow residential streets has been brought up in particular reference to Helen avenue, a similar condition exists on a number of other Mansfield streets and might well be given attention at the same time.

It is interesting to note that Helen avenue residents have taken the initiative in this matter, as it has been under discussion for a number of years without reaching agreement as to which side of the street should be subjected to a "no-parking" regulation.

On these narrow streets, with cars sometimes parked a block or more on both sides, a one-way lane is left in the middle through which two drivers sometimes attempt to pass, with disastrous results that at least occasionally involve parked cars as well as those in motion.

If the program of the council's traffic committee, working in co-operation with the citizens' committee, can be made to include correction of a number of obviously dangerous conditions in Mansfield the accomplishment will be well worthwhile.

They'll Never Forget This Trip

THEY may not realize it now, but that Richland county boy and girl who are this week making the "Let's Explore Ohio" 1,000-mile bus trip, with other winners in the essay-writing contest recently sponsored by the News-Journal and the Standard Oil company, are having an experience that will be a pleasant recollection all through their lives.

At 15 and 11 these young people are in the age range of most vivid impressions and their view of many places of interest in their home state will not only be thoroughly enjoyed but will prove a valuable part of their education.

There are so many beautiful and historic places in the Buckeye State that a "Let's Explore Ohio" trip can be confidently recommended to prospective vacationers who "can't think of a place to go this year."

Students Design New Chair

STUDENTS at a school of design in Chicago have devised a new kind of chair with a "floating seat." It is an easy chair, described as "feather-light," made of plywood. But that isn't all. The back and seat seem to float into adjustment, moving when the person in the chair moves. It sounds interesting and is said to be quite comfortable.

The striking thing about it is that it was built by young people at a school and was the result of studying all sorts of materials and discovering new possibilities in their use.

A chair that combines comfort and strength with lightness and beauty, and incorporates some entirely new feature, is bound to be a success. And the young people who designed it are likely to be successful, too.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Yvette Dare, the beautiful Balinese sarong dancer who is disrobed nightly before admiring audiences by a cagey old talking macaw, is really a little American girl from Lawton, Okla., whose name is Evelyn Evans.

Almost everyone who attended the fair last summer or who has wandered into Leon & Eddie's this summer, will remember Yvette. As she dances the symbolic terpsichorean rituals of the Bali maids a gorgeously plumed bird flies down from a tree and plucks away the flowers at her wrist. Then he flies from his perch again and plucks away her brassiere and returns with it to his perch. If he gets back to his perch without dropping the brassiere (and he has never been known to drop it) he gets an extra portion of watermelon seeds when he gets back to his dressing room. The third time he flies from the tree he removes Miss Dare's sarong, which is one of those things that Miss Dorothy Lamour has made famous, and again returns to his perch.

"HOW in the world did you ever think up an act like this?" I asked this diminutive girl, who is ivory complexioned and weighs only 107 pounds.

"I've always loved to read history," she said, "and one of my favorite passages from history tells how Alexander the Great conquered an African country with a talking bird. That gave me the idea, for all my life we have had a parrot, or macaw, in the family. He's upstairs now. His name is 'Einstein.' So I taught him all the tricks he knows. It took months, but Einstein is a smart bird, and he seldom makes a mistake. He sits in the tree watching me dance, and when it is time for him to come after my things I murmur 'Au-ka' to him. In Balinese this means 'Come on.' In addition to Einstein I have three other birds—Jocko, Jack, and Lipstick. Einstein is the oldest. He has been in our family over 30 years. When they get old their faces shrivel up just like old people."

Yvette has been dancing four years, though it was not until she arrived in Manhattan last summer that she became a sensation. "When I first started my brother and my father and mother in Lawton thought I was slightly ditched—meaning silly. But they think it is all right now."

YVETTE is French and Indian, which accounts for her jet black hair and deep olive skin. She is just one inch over five feet.

"These marks on my right hand are from Einstein's talons," she explained. "He still thinks my arm is the limb of a tree, and when he flies to it, he clutches it very tightly. Last summer I took him out to the fair on the subway, but he didn't like that very much, and people stared quite a bit. Now we ride taxicabs to and from the hotel.

"The worst time I ever had was in Miami this spring. He got away and was gone for 13 hours. He flew up on top of the station and disappeared. We had the police and the fire department looking all over Miami for him. I finally found him two miles away in a palm tree. When he saw me he flew right to me."

Yvette likes her job and her birds, but she would give up dancing before she would part with a single feather from either Jack, Jocko, Lipstick, or old Einstein. "Lipstick is very gabby. He talks so much, in fact, that I seldom work with him. But I love him. I do not like anyone who doesn't like my birds."

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, June 27, 1920.

Park avenue west improvement was in readiness to start laying of new street car tracks.

John F. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner, spoke at First Presbyterian church on enforcement of prohibition.

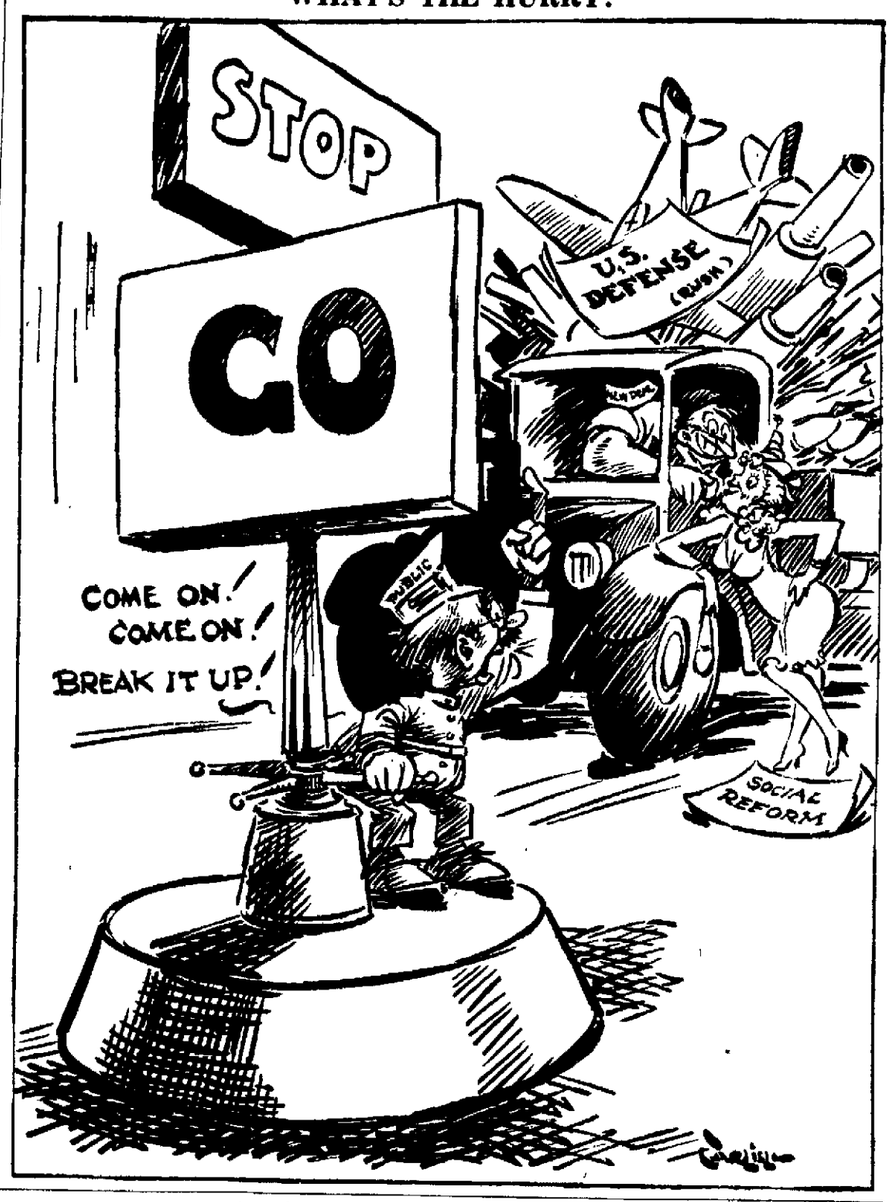
WHAT'S THE HURRY?



Health And Diet

Care of Feet Highly Important.

—By DR. CLENDENING

THE FEET, like every other part of the body, should be given care at all times, but it seems in the spring and early summer they need more care than usual. This year abnormal temperatures throughout nearly all sections of the country, and hard rains, cause many feet to ache, especially when rubbers, overshoes and heavy footwear are discarded.

In children, the prevention of foot defects should be stressed and it is the objective of the National Foot Health Council to point out the necessary and proper method of doing this. In school examinations in large cities, an average of 76 per cent of boys and girls of high school age were found foot defective; some with corns, others with ingrown nails, some with weak arches, and many showing marked tendencies to the developing of large joints, hammer toes and bunions. Corns and ingrown toenails are not serious in themselves but they probably mean that proper footwear is not being used.

The healthiest of all feet are found in those who go barefooted. True, they have calluses but these are not the same as corns. For children, at this time of the year, nothing could be healthier than to encourage them to go bare-footed around the house, in the yard and on beaches. Any cuts or abrasions that they get should be treated antiseptically, but these are minor disadvantages compared to the advantage which is gained in the strengthening of the feet, improvement in arch support and functional efficiency.

Stress Proper Care.

Another objective of the Council is industrial foot care through the advancement of programs directed to men and women whose employment keeps them on their feet. The program stresses, first, correct footwear and, second, proper foot care.

Chiropodists and podiatrists are now quite scientifically trained and have a century of service behind them. The first chiropody office was opened in Boston in 1840. This year the National Association of Chiropodists will observe the centennial during its annual convention in Boston.

Foot care is not a luxury limited to a few, it can be enjoyed by persons in all walks of life and at all ages. Throughout this land there are foot clinics, many of them in first-class hospitals, where chiropodists and podiatrists are available to care for the foot problems of men, women and children regardless of their circumstances. Don't neglect your feet. Don't wait until they have become a major problem. Too often minor defects go untreated and disregarded until they become of crippling proportions.

It is not unusual for foot troubles to react on the entire system. Many women who are fatigued by a shopping trip, get that way from faulty foot posture.

Keep Those Home Fires Burning!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SHE THINKS we should "limit our expenditures and dispense with all luxuries, particularly public amusements, for the limit of the European war." And will I not "write an article urging loyal Americans" to follow her suggestions?

Yes, Lady, I will not!

WHAT'S MORE, I THINK THAT ANY AMERICAN WHO DOES FOLLOW YOUR SUGGESTION IS EITHER SO DUMB HE NEEDS A GUARDIAN OR SO DISLOYAL HE DESERVES A FIRING SQUAD.

No policy could possibly please Herr Hitler as well, or serve his vicious ends as completely, as this program of stagnation. No super-tank, no fleet of bombers, could damage America and the Allies as tragically as such inaction. The one thing above all others which Civilization needs in this desperate pass is—

TO KEEP THE HOME FIRES BURNING!

And there's just one way to do that—

BY STAYING NORMAL!

The German menace represents all that is diseased and deadly in the human mind. We do not need to be in France or England to be imperilled by the threat of Hitler and his Nazi Hoodlums. We carry the threat of that peril in our own spirits. We, too, can lose faith, as they have lost faith. We, too, can turn back to the jungles, as they have turned back. The seeds are in us . . . we have only to yield to our own secret weakness and viciousness, and life will shortly become as poisoned and perverted in America as it is in Germany.

Life was meant to be good and glad, for all people, not merely the powerful and predatory few. Life was meant to be active and abundant. We have known such life in the past because we have lived normally. Know it now!

LET US KEEP OURSELVES FREE AND WHOLE, NOT BY RETREATING FROM LIFE BUT BY GOING AHEAD—BY EXPRESSING EVERY HAPPY IMPULSE, EVERY HEALTHY DESIRE. . . . BY BACKING UP EVERY VITAL INTEREST AND INDUSTRY IN OUR NATIONAL PROGRAM.

IF YOU WANT TO STAY ON THE MAP, KEEP AMERICA THERE!

No, this isn't an advertisement. It's simply sound mental hygiene and 100 per cent patriotism.

The American who through selfish fear, restrains his own wholesome expansion and his country's commercial activities, is as surely a traitor as the one who betrays his nation's secrets and deals her as deadly a blow. If you want to save Democracy, if you want to preserve Decency, if you want to defeat those who would throttle and thwart life—live normally! Live and give as you've never given before!

KEEP AMERICAN BUSINESS GOING AND AMERICAN MORALE FUNCTIONING!

Spend! Prove your faith by spending, no matter how limited your assets may be! Lift your outlay above mere commercialism, make it an "act of grace," an act of faith in the last stronghold of freedom and equality.

GIVE, THAT YOUR COUNTRY MAY LIVE! GIVE, THAT YOUR OWN SPIRIT MAY REMAIN EAGER AND UNDAUNTED! GO TO THAT MOVIE . . . TAKE THAT TRIP . . . BUY THAT HAT. . . . INVEST IN THAT NEW DEVELOPMENT. . . SIGN UP FOR THAT NEW SERVICE—AND LAUGH AS YOU DO IT!

For your nation needs more than your lip service. It needs your enthusiasm, your faith, your good sportsmanship . . . all the abundance of your soul, mind and body. Out of that abundance was America conceived and maintained. Out of it—if YOU will give it—shall she be saved today and, with her, the hope of the world!

Timely Editorial

That Emotional Sag.

Do you wake up feeling fine then suffer a sag of spirits as soon as you remember again that a horrible war is devastating Europe? Nearly everyone does these days. It is easy to observe that the war is getting a lot of folk in this country down.

Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the medical school of Northwestern University, urges a definite and sustained interest in pleasant diversions for Americans in order to get their minds off the holocaust. Go fishing if you like it. Follow the hobby or recreation in which you take the keenest delight. That is a prescription easy to take.

After all, it should not take a psychiatrist to explain that no American can accomplish anything by turning into a worry wart about European barbarism.—Toledo Blade.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today marks the anniversary of the death in 1836 of Claude Rouget de Lisle, the author of the famous "Marseillaise," which inspired the revolutionists who overthrew the monarchy in France prior to the rise of Napoleon.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

PHILADELPHIA—There are two men at this convention to whom the appointment of Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war is gall and wormwood. They are Herbert Hoover, for whom Stimson served as secretary of state; and William R. Castle, jr., who served Stimson as undersecretary of state.

Nothing Franklin Roosevelt could have done could have nettled Hoover and Castle more than Stimson's appointment.

When all three were in the Hoover administration, they fought continually, and the basis of their fight illustrated the basic cleavage inside the Republican party today. Hoover and Castle were deathly afraid of playing too strong a hand in Europe and Asia. Stimson leaned in the opposite direction.

When Japan invaded Manchuria, Stimson got Hoover's consent to sending the late Prentiss Gilbert to attend the Council of the League of Nations and help adopt a united peace program blocking Japan. But when several members of the Republican national committee objected, Hoover ordered Gilbert out of the Council meetings. It took a personal phone call from Viscount Reading finally to reverse Hoover's position and permit Gilbert to stay.

Again in 1931 when Hoover proposed a moratorium on Germany's war debt, he issued what was called the "Hoover plan". But his secretary of state, then in London, and knowing how the French disliked Hoover, flatly denied there was any such thing as a Hoover plan. Later both men found themselves on opposite shores of the Atlantic, one insisting there was no Hoover plan, the other that he had written it.

Dogged Stimson.

MOST disastrous friction between Hoover and Stimson came during the London naval conference of 1930, when Stimson saw that nothing save a consultative pact would save the conference. This pact pledged the United States to consult with Europe in case of war.

But the morning after Secretary Stimson, in London, had announced his determination to negotiate such a pact, his chief in the White House issued this formal statement:

"No security or consultative pact has been considered at any time during the course of the London conference."

Of course, this left Secretary Stimson very much out on the limb. But it is significant that when it came to a showdown between Hoover and his secretary of state, his secretary of state usually won.

Stimson has a dogged persistence and a will of iron which made him the most potent figure in the Hoover cabinet. And in the Roosevelt cabinet both the generals and FDR himself will have a hard time swaying Stimson—if he doesn't want to be swayed.

Suppressed Blast.

THERE was one Republican blast at the Stimson-Knox cabinet appointments that was not released. It was written by dapper, white-crested former National Chairman Henry Fletcher, and read:

"We see no occasion to attach any significance to the fact that two fleas hop from an elephant to a donkey."

Republican leaders in Philadelphia to whom Fletcher showed the statement laughed heartily, but persuaded him not to give it to the press.

Organized Spontaneity.

FOR a "spontaneous" campaign, the Willkie blitzkrieg was one of the best organized ever seen. It completely outshone the campaigns of his rivals, who were actively in the field many months before his name was even "mentioned".

Starting with six different headquarters a week before the convention opened, by Monday at least a dozen Willkie camps were going full blast. All were elaborately decorated and manned with well-dressed and cheery young men and women to whom the experience was a new and exciting adventure.

One Willkie strategem, however, did not ring the bell. This was a flood of telegrams from their home towns and state that greeted the delegates upon arrival. Going through them, they found the many of the wires had the same spelling and grammatical mistakes. Also that batches of the signatures appeared to be in alphabetical order—indicating a common source.

Willkie rivals promptly raised the cry of "holding company bill tactics", referring to the deluge of fake telegrams sent by utilities during the congressional battle over the New Deal holding company "death sentence".

Roosevelt Men.

MAKING the rounds of the various headquarters, Thomas ("Tip") O'Neil, veteran political writer of the Philadelphia Record, wandered into the main Willkie menage. He was welcomed by a modish, brisk young man who, apparently thinking "Tip" was a delegate, launched into an obviously rehearsed spiel about the wonders of Willkie.

He wound up with "And now, how about a Willkie button?"

"No, thanks," replied O'Neil. "You see, to be frank, I'm a Roosevelt man."

"Shake," exclaimed the Willkie worker. "So was I until I got this job."

The "H" In "Bridges."

CHEERIEST convention headquarters is that of Senator H. Styles Bridges, one of the darkest of dark horses. The discouragements are many, but the stocky young New Englander and his lieutenants have carried on bravely just the same.

Representative Charles Hawks, raw Wisconsin first-termer whose appointment as Bridges' campaign manager is still an unexplained mystery, was a bit disconcerted the first day he arrived in Philadelphia. Carlisle Bargeron, jovial ex-Georgia newsman and Democrat who is Bridges' publicity master mind, arranged a press conference for Hawks, and when the reporters arrived they found themselves being carefully scrutinized by two very obvious plain-clothesmen.

"What's the idea?" a newsman asked.

Bargeron could throw no light on the matter, so the reporter asked one of the cops.

"We got a tip," he replied, "that this guy Harry Bridges was here and we came up to keep an eye on him."

Note — The "H" in Bridges' name stands for "Henry". Quipped the irrepressible Bargeron, "Yes sir, boys, it's just what I've alway contended. This convention has either got to nominate Bridges or deport him."

Merry-Go-Round.

PENNSYLVANIA'S boss, Joe Pew was not exaggerating when he declared, "This is an independent convention." It's so independent that the delegates have been elbowing the bosses out of the camp and clambering on the Willkie bandwagon. . . . Former Senator George Moses of New Hampshire has aged a bit since he was a Washington headliner, but his wit is as razor-sharp as ever. Cracked Moses, "There will be a lot of disappointments when the convention is over, but appointments will heal all wounds." . . . In his drive to grab New England delegates, Willkie propositioned Senator Styles Bridges to be his floor manager. . . . What with managing the convention, holding endless conferences, and numerous radio and press engagements, hard-working National Chairman John Hamilton has averaged less than five hours sleep a night.

Season's Progress

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SUMMER and beginning of harvest . . . warm thunder showers . . . rainbows girding the eastern horizon, gentle moist south winds that fan the leafy bowers of the woodland . . . a laughing sky studded with soft fleecy cloud that sail silently in an immeasurable blue sea.

I feel small—even less than antlike—as I lie upon the cool deep green of our own lawn and look up, into that pleasant sky. For there is peace, quiet rhythm, immensity, and a vastness that appalls the most fantastic imaginings. It startles and troubles me and makes me wish to return to more familiar and simpler sights and sounds.

I watch the upland wheat fields waving in the breeze—a fickle motion like shallow sweels upon an inland water. The vanguard twists and turns, rolls the heavy-burdened heads up and down, back and forth, until at the border of the field they bow low and rise straight and tall in the full strength of their wheathood.

I look across the moist cool even top of the wheatfield at evening without the motion of a single head, and recognize a hint of yellow emerging from the green. Yet it is so slight, that I feel its presence rather than discern it. I walked into our bottom field and parted the tall walls of straw with my hands. The under blades and lower stalks showed light straw color and a sweet tangible fragrance rose about me. The spirit of harvest time was abroad.

Cornfields are green and stand knee high, a level stretch across the field. Recent rains have made the joints so tender that the slightest touch of horses hoofs or cultivator shovel breaks a stalk from its base.

I followed with my eyes the three foot rows across the bottom land. From another angle long lines of narrower rows appeared. Diagonal rows were longer, too, and hid the dark brown soil with arching leaves.

Drilled-in soybeans are several inches tall and make a soft green covering. Oats are deep and rank. Occasional wet places show patches of stunted yellow. The clover is red with bloom and bumblebees are busy upon the composite heads. White-topped alsike emits an ecstatic flavor in profusion. One neighbor has long windows of new mown hay across his field, another hauls high-topped loads of freshly cured grass out of the meadow. The team looks small and the farmer is a mere speck against the front upright. Busy, tiresome harvest days are just ahead.

2 FIELD DAYS

Programs Set for Vegetable Growers, Threshermen.

Two field day programs, one for threshermen and the other for vegetable growers, will be open to Richland countians next Saturday in Stark county and Columbus, County Agent George B. Ganyard said today.

The program for threshermen, which will be in charge of County Agent O. R. Keyser of Stark county, will be held near Battlesburg, south of Canton. It will include talks by G. W. McCuen and E. A. Silver of the Ohio State university department of agriculture engineering and exhibits of the latest in threshing equipment. Activities will open at 10 a. m. and close at 3 p. m.

The vegetable growers' session will be held at the Ohio State university gardens north of Columbus with talks and demonstrations scheduled for the all-day program, Ganyard said.

CAROL YIELDS TO RUSSIA TO PREVENT WAR

Bessarabia and Other Points Claimed by Reds; British Bombers Raid Ruhr.

ain—instead of waiting passively for Hitler's long-heralded invasion—might herself launch a bold offensive against Germany.

With units of the French fleet now reported ready to carry on the fight under British command, Eden declared bluntly:

"No battle can be won by standing on the defensive.

"Until the time comes to sally forth from the fortress (Britain) to the attack, remember that it is not sufficient merely to defeat the attack on these islands."

The war minister's statement came shortly after the official disclosure that British landing parties had crossed the channel, attacked Nazi troops on the German occupied coastline and obtained valuable reconnaissance information.

Indications mounted that at least some of France's warfleet—flouting armistice provisions for surrender—had cast its lot with Great Britain and pledged a fight to the finish from North African bases.

Spanish sources and British reports from Gibraltar said French west Mediterranean naval squadrons had sped past Gibraltar to Casablanca, strategic Atlantic port of French Morocco.

French warships in the eastern Mediterranean last were reported remaining with the British fleet at Alexandria.

One Berlin radio commentator, meanwhile, said the British government was trying to contact the Axis powers, presumably for peace negotiations, but London officials said the report was "positively rubbish."

For the sixth time in nine days, wide-ranging German bombers swept over England from the southeast coast to northern Scotland. The air ministry said two of the raiders were shot down, and that no serious damage and "only slight" casualties were caused.

DNB, German news agency, reported that on the night of June 20 alone British raiders dropped 371 bombs on German soil, killing 16 and injuring 41. At German-held Heller, in the Netherlands, 36 were reported killed and 22 wounded by 200 bombs the night of June 24.

Britain's raid on German positions along the continental coast, reported yesterday, was scoffed by DNB as "ridiculous . . . insignificant." The news agency said the raiders were driven off after wounding two Germans.

The British hinted the attack might presage repeated raids to harass Nazis at jumping-off points for direct attacks on England.

Italian Navy Blasts At British Base.

ROME—(U.P.)—Units of the Italian navy have bombarded the British base at Sollum, Egypt, with "considerable effectiveness," Italy's 16th communique of the war said today.

The communique, issued from general headquarters of the Italian armed forces, said also that Italian planes again had raided Malta, British Mediterranean base.

(In Cairo the Royal Air force middle east command admitted that in the 24-hour period ending at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Italian planes had bombed Malta five times, killing 12 civilians, wounding many others but causing slight property damage.)

"Our bombing planes have successfully flown over Malta, again hitting with destructive action aerial and naval objectives on the island," the communique said. "All our planes returned to their bases.

"In North Africa repeated aerial actions took place against enemy warehouses and motor trucks. All our planes returned.

"Units of our fleet have bombarded the British base of Sollum, Egypt, with considerable effectiveness. Enemy air raids over Massawa and Assab (East Africa) did not achieve any results."

IN HOSPITAL

Lexington Woman Beaten By Robber Treated for Shock.

Mrs. Rose Kell, 68, Lexington widow, who was beaten and robbed in her home early Tuesday, had entered Mansfield General hospital today for treatment while county authorities continued their search for her assailant.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Kell's condition is good and she probably will be able to return home in a few days. She is suffering from a head wound, a fractured finger, and shock.

Deputy sheriffs said they believed her assailant beat Mrs. Kell with a long flashlight after she awoke to find the prowler in her room.

The officers said they were still without a clue in the case, although they questioned several transients who were said to have been in Lexington at the time of the attack.

YOUTHS WORK ON SHELBY PROJECT

SHELBY—Some 11 youths are employed on Shelby's NYA project for improvement of the city's parks and playgrounds, Supervisor Mason Freeman disclosed. The boys between the ages of 18 to 25 years are working on the South street playground this week, Freeman said. After completion of this work, the youths will be transferred to the West Park Drive addition park.

FIGHTS, BOOS GREET WILLKIE

Convention Placed in Uproar By Nominating Speech For New Yorker.

sons? Am I responsible for the enthusiasm?"

R. B. Creager, Texas national committeeman and a Taft leader, sought to have persons with similar tickets kept out of the auditorium today.

The Willkie nominating speech was interrupted time and again with boos which were quickly drowned by applause. In the demonstration that followed, several fights broke out when delegates tried to wave state standards.

All this was preceded by nominating speeches and parades for Taft, Dewey and Frank Gannett of New York in a six-hour session.

Besides the candidates offered last night, Iowa said it would nominate Hanford MacNider, Michigan promised to produce Senator Vandenberg; New Hampshire, Senator Bridges; Oregon, Senator McNary; Pennsylvania, its Governor James; South Dakota, its Governor Bushfield.

After the speech by John Lord O'Brian of New York which put Dewey into the nomination, Dewey men leaped to their feet with a roar and went dancing about the floor waving pictures and state standards. They kept it up for 20 minutes.

Gannett's name was put before the convention by Rep. James W. Wadsworth, a party warhorse of many years, greying and balding now.

Next into the battery of Klieg lights came Grove Patterson, Toledo editor, to propose Senator Taft. For 20 minutes the Taft men whooped and yelled, waved banners and marched, while they pranced about the floor and balloons tumbled out of cages in the roof.

In his speech for Willkie, Representative Halleck encountered repeating heckling.

"I'm for him if he will keep this country out of war," he said amid chorus of boos.

"Just a minute," he added. "You'll hear me. He knows war as a soldier who fought in France in the last war."

Shouts of laughter and more boos broke in a few minutes later when Halleck said the Willkie boom has been accomplished "without a political organization and with no campaign funds."

"No compaign funds!" laughed a man in the back of the hall.

The fist fights broke out on the floor when the demonstration started a moment or so later. Delaware, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maryland, Maine, California, New Jersey, Minnesota and Montana state standards bobbed about the hall filled with marching delegates.

But beside the Ohio standard sat Gov. John W. Bricker, hands tightly clenched about the pine pole. Right behind him, former Sen. David Reed of Pennsylvania and several husky delegates made certain the standard of their James-pledged delegation did not go astray. And in front of Bricker half a dozen Michiganders stood guard over their standard.

ADJUSTMENTS

Ramsower Says Agriculture Faces Serious Changes.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Agricultural activity will face serious adjustments in the immediate future because of the European war, says Dr. H. C. Ramsower, director of Ohio State university's extension service.

"Extension work in agriculture and home economics will, in my judgment, rank high in national preparedness," Ramsower told an extension section of the American Home Economics association yesterday.

BRITISH HEAR GERMANS READY FOR INVASION

of small fishing craft recently had been sent by the Germans to the Norwegian port of Stavanger, which is but 365 miles from Scotland. These small craft were described as suitable for transport of German troops across the North sea if such an attempt is ordered.

In addition to reports of hundreds of fishing boats ordered to Stavanger, it was believed that similar preparations were being made by the Germans on the Dutch, Belgian and French coasts, much nearer to England.

The landing party attacks by British naval and military forces, disclosed officially here yesterday, were designed to gather information on these preparations. All indications were that the British Isles were prepared to fight to the last, with about 2,000,000 men now under arms.

It was believed that if Hitler did speak, Prime Minister Winston Churchill would answer him in a statement to the house of commons next Tuesday.

J. J. Davidson, Labor party member of commons, said he would ask Sir John Anderson, home security minister, today whether he was aware "that former members of the pro-Nazi organization, 'The Link,' met in London last week and discussed the question of peace terms under a sympathetic government."

"I have every reason to believe that former members of the organization discussed the chances for a negotiated peace," Davidson said.

The British Broadcasting company, in a broadcast in French today, urged commanders of French warships to take their vessels "to a free naval base, whether French or Allied."

Heading its appeal "an important message to officers commanding units of the French navy," the BBC said:

"The armistice of Compiegne was to have safeguarded the French empire. It has not done so. Already Indo-China is threatened. The nucleus of French resistance which is assembling such national resources as have escaped German control appeals to the conscience and duty of the seamen of France. Be prepared to safeguard the French empire. Direct your course immediately to a free naval base, whether French or Allied."

Nazis Say They're 'Not Interested.'

BERLIN—(AP)—German sources asserted today that the Reich is disinterested in Soviet Russia's demands on Rumania.

A similar expression was forthcoming when Russia recently marched into Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia to "implement" further her mutual assistance pacts with the little Baltic states on Germany's eastern flank.

BUDAPEST—(AP)—Hungary and Bulgaria, both with territorial claims on Rumania, kept close watch today on the outcome of Soviet Russia's demands on King Carol's country.

Rumania's reported 'submission to Russian demands, it is believed in foreign quarters of Budapest and Sofia, be certain to force Bulgaria and Hungary to look after their own interests.

There was no sign of extraordinary military activity, but foreign observers pointed out that both Hungary and Bulgaria have strong forces on their borders with Rumania.

REPUBLICANS VOTE TONIGHT ON CANDIDATE

election of a Taft-Dewey or Dewey-Taft ticket but the camps of both contenders strongly denied the reports and it appeared plain that no such agreement has been made.

Verne Marshall, Cedar Rapids, Ia., Gazette editor, nominated MacSnider, former assistant secretary of war, former American Legion commander and one-time U. S. Minister to Canada, as an executive equipped to deal with national defense problems—governmental, economic and military.

He said "party lines and differences would disappear as mist beneath an August sun" if MacSnider were chosen.

Iowa raised its standard and delegates began to parade.

Alternates joined.

Former Gov. Frank F. Merriam of California seconded the MacSnider nomination.

Rep. Roy Woodruff of Michigan presented in nomination the name of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan.

Woodruff told the delegates that if Vandenberg is nominated Republicans could point to deeds rather than mere words of a platform as the party's guarantee to the nation.

"Every issue which we shall take to the country is personified and dramatized in his record," Woodruff said. "Indeed his record is substantially his party's platform. The country, in this campaign, will look at the man rather than the platform. The man will be the platform."

The wide open nomination contest features stop-Dewey and stop-Willkie movements desperately seeking to establish effective organization in maneuvers which seem to boost the chances of Taft. Former President Herbert C. Hoover was reported to be seeking to block Willkie. Dewey still is counted the first ballot leader with Taft second and Willkie or Vandenberg third. A powerful figure in the convention now among the stop-Willkie group and as somewhat more favorable to Taft than to Dewey, estimated that Dewey would lead on the first ballot by 50 votes but fall well short of a 501 vote majority. He believed Taft would pass Dewey on the second ballot, smashing any chance of his nomination, and that Taft's third ballot nomination would be feasible if the Willkie drive could be stopped.

TANK EXPLODES ON MOTORCYCLE

Witnesses of Traffic Crash Sprayed By Flames.

AKRON —(AP)— Explosion of a motorcycle's gasoline tank showered 22 persons with flaming gasoline, critically burning two of them last night.

The motorcycle's rider, Ivan Clouser of North Canton, received a leg fractured as he was thrown from the vehicle in a crash with an automobile in East Akron. As Clouser was being lifted from the wreckage, the explosion occurred.

Those burned were spectators, police said.

RICHLAND WPA WORKERS TAKE LOYALTY OATH

545 in County Required To Sign Statements Before They Get July Pay.

Richland county's 545 WPA workers and 14,000 in the Central Ohio district must sign statements of loyalty to the United States government before they can receive their July 1 paychecks, J. L. Kelly, district manager, said today.

Designed to "weed out" Communists, "fifth columnists," and others with un-American intentions, the affidavits follow the pattern outlined by congress in the 1940-41 relief act.

They require that every WPA worker, from project workers to administrators, swear to these statements:

1. That he is a citizen of the United States, or if he is not a citizen, he owes his allegiance to this country.

2. That he "does not and will not advocate or hold membership in any organization that advocates the overthrow of the government of the United States."

3. That he is "not an alien, nor a Communist, nor a member of any Nazi Bund organization, and that he will not become a member of any of them during the time he may be paid from federal WPA funds."

The loyalty oath has been required of WPA workers in the past, but the section dealing with specific subversive organizations was included for the first time in the relief bill now awaiting the signature of President Roosevelt.

The WPA workers were warned that a maximum fine of $2,000 or two years imprisonment may be imposed if it is found they have sworn falsely to the statements.

Blind Student and Seeing Dog Graduate.

DELAND, Fla.—(AP)—The degree of C. F., signifying Canine Fidelity, was bestowed on Katie, a "seeing eye" dog at Stetson university's commencement exercises.

The dog leading her blind master, Robert Barnett of Jacksonville, marched across the rostrum formally attired in regulation cap and gown complete with academic tassel to receive her degree from W. S. Allen, president of Stetson. Barnett received a degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Katie, who came to Stetson with Barnett in 1938, regularly attended classes, chapel lectures and concerts. Among her other accomplishments was her formal induction into Mystic Krewe men's leadership organization on the campus.

Barnett, who termed blindness "no handicap with a dog like Katie," served this year as editor of the school newspaper.

FORMAL CEREMONY PERFORMED FOR PAIR

Miss Vivian McLaughlin, Gary Balliett Exchange Vows Before Altar of First Lutheran Church Wednesday Evening.

FORMALITY marked the 7:30 p. m. marriage of Miss Vivian Fern McLaughlin to Gary Gordon Balliett last night when Dr. Grover E. Swoyer read the nuptial service before the altar of the First Lutheran church. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. McLaughlin, Vonhof boulevard, Coolridge Heights, was given in marriage by her father.

She was attired in a gown of white slipper satin made with the slightest suggestion of a train. The full circular skirt was attached to a pointed inset girdle, and the sweetheart neckline was trimmed simply with two pearl clips. Her bridal veil was cut in the circular fingertip length, and attached to a coronet style headpiece which included a cap of Chantilly lace and lilies-of-the-valley. Her only jewelry was a gold cross necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

Miss McLaughlin's bouquet was made in the new popular fan shape of white carnations and gardenias alternating in the center with swansonia, and tied with white satin ribbon. A gardenia corsage at the base of the fan was removed later for the bride to wear with her traveling costume.

In addition to "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," which was played by Mrs. Clayson D. Bell, organist, during the ceremony, the nuptial music included "Bells of St. Mary's" by Emmett Adams, "Liebestraum" by Liszt, and "Through the Years" by Vincent Youman, plus the two wedding marches.

Miss Anita McLaughlin, sister of the bride, was vocalist. She song "Beloved, It is Morning," by Aylward, "Bridal Dawn" by Martin, and "To You Dear" by Edmund Brahan.

Formal Decorations.

Altar decorations featured palms and ferns and two seven-branch candelabra and two large beauty baskets of white gladioli. White bows marked the pews, and white satin ribbons were pulled at the beginning of the ceremony, while matching kneeling pillows, and a muslin aisle strip completed the decorations.

Another sister, Miss Gertrude McLaughlin, served as maid of honor. She wore a blush pink floor length taffeta gown, made in the full skirted style, and topped by a tightly fitting jacket. Braid trimmed the sweetheart neckline, bodice and puffed sleeves. With this frock she wore a tiny flowered hat with streamers, and carried a basket of garden flowers.

Miss Laura McLaughlin, a third sister, was attired in a heaven blue princess style taffeta dress, and she also wore a flower hat in a contrasting shade, and carried a basket of garden flowers.

Brothers Attend.

Mr. Balliett chose his own brother, Clifton, for best man. His bride's brother, Artis, Ned Hughes, Richard Brightbill, and Charles Latimer, Mifflin, were the ushers.

For her daughter's marriage, Mrs. McLaughlin was attired in a rose mist lace street dress and white accessories. She wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and pale blue delphinium. Mrs. Balliett attended the ceremony wearing a navy blue lace street dress with a corsage of Briarcliff and Johanna Hill roses.

Immediately following the ceremony 50 guests were entertained at a buffet supper at the bride's home. The table was centered with a large wedding cake, flanked by white candles in crystal candelabra. During the evening Miss Allyne Leibhart played a number of piano selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Balliett are now on a southern motor trip. They will be at home in Coolridge Heights after July 1. For traveling the bride wore a veronica blue two piece wool crepe suit trimmed with azure flying squirrel and white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Balliett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Balliett, Lucas road, was graduated from Madison township high school and is also employed at Westinghouse.

Republicans Have Picnic; Member Reports Session

Sixty members and guests attended the meeting and picnic dinner held Wednesday noon at South park by the Republican Women's council. Dinner was served at long tables which were attractively decorated with red roses. Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Martha Martin, Mrs. Ray Fleming and Mrs. James Le Munyon.

Mrs. Carl Spangler presided and opened the meeting with the group singing "America." As a delegate, she gave a report on the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's meeting which was held in Columbus in May.

Announcement was made of the next meeting which will be a joint session with the men's organization and their families on July 24 at 6 p. m. at South park. Mrs. Helen Young is general chairman.

Following the business session games and contests were the diversion.

Routine Session Held At Proctor Residence

There were 18 members and two guests of Division Three of the United Presbyterian church present yesterday for a 1 o'clock picnic at the home of Mrs. Fred Proctor, Ausdale. Mrs. Mary E. Proctor was associate hostess. The guests were Mrs. Frank Lane and Mrs. W. W. Crouch.

After the routine meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Hugh Rust, the afternoon was spent socially. Mrs. Walter Caines and Mrs. Chattie Sullivan, Anna avenue, Hancock Heights, will entertain July 31.

Relief Corps Set Dates for Future Events at Meeting

Members of the McLaughlin Women's Relief corps No. 26 met in regular session at the Memorial building last night with Mrs. Charles Edmonstone in charge when national general orders were read announcing the national convention to be held the week of Sept. 8 at Springfield, Ill. The president gave a report of the department convention which was held recently in Columbus.

It was announced that the Federated Patriotic societies will meet for a covered-dish dinner at 6 p. m. at North Lake park July 18. A business meeting and social hour will follow. Arrangements for attending the Civil war veterans' picnic at Sandusky on Aug. 2, 3 and 4 were also discussed.

Members arranged to have a party for Department Commander of the G. A. R., Thomas Ridenor, Crestline, and for Mrs. Clyde Webb, department junior vice president in the near future. Other department officers will be special guests. The next regular meeting will be held July 10.

William Houston Presents Program At Parent's Home

There were 100 guests present at the home of William Houston, 456 Park avenue west, last evening when he gave his senior piano recital. Richard Wright, tenor, was assisting artist. For his opening selection, William chose the "E Major," "C Sharp Minor" and "A Minor" preludes by Heller, and the "Moonlight Sonata" by Beethoven including the adagio, sostenuto, allegretto and presto agitato movements.

Richard sang "Hymn" by Houston; "L'Air de la fleur" from "Carmen" by Bizet; "Nina" by Pergolesi; "At Parting" by Rogers and "Bird Songs at Eventide" by Coates.

For his concluding selections William played "March of the Dwarfs" by Grieg; "Soaring" by Schumann; "Hungarian Dance No. 5" by Brahms and the "E Minor," "B Minor," "A Major," "C Minor" and "G Minor" preludes by Chopin.

Striped Suit Molds Figure

If you really mean to swim, you'll like the knife-clean silhouette of this red and white wool knit and lastex suit designed by Eleanor Holm. Skilfully cut to mold the figure. The half-skirt style is smarter this season than the more revealing maillot.

Favorite Compositions to Be Heard at Recital Tomorrow

TOMORROW evening when pupils of Daisie M. Gibson appear in recital at 8 o'clock in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel Lois Robinson and Mildred Hart accompanied by Janet Baughman will play the first movement of the famous Bach "C minor Concerto" for two violins. All three girls are well-known in musical circles here having given recitals in programs in recent months.

The Boy Violinists, accompanied by William Houston, will play for the first time the allegro movement from Franz Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," "La Brunette" by Severn and "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

Richard Beilstein, George Porterfield, Allen Sanford and William Klinger will be heard in a quartet arrangement of "A la Gavotte" by Karganoff arranged by Leopold Auer. All four boys have given recitals this past season, and are playing for the first time as an ensemble. They will be accompanied by Walter Simon.

Other highlights of the program will be Richard and Eugene Griesbach who will play a duet, and a group of 35 younger violinists known as the Singing Violins. They will be accompanied by Donald Hart and Bettie Gibson. A girls' ensemble with Barbara McKinley at the piano, and solos by Robert Hart, Jeanette Platt, Denton Laudon, Alive Wentland and Robert Baker will be features of the program.

The program, which will begin promptly because of the number of small children taking part, is open to friends and relatives.

PLAY GAMES.

Members of the U-Name-It club met last evening for a regular session at the home of Mrs. Jack Flaharty, 342 Grace street. Following the short business meeting games and contests were enjoyed. AUXILIARY MEETS.

Mrs. Christ Geisel conducted the routine business session when members of the Liberty Park auxiliary met at the club house Wednesday afternoon. Twenty-three were in attendance and enjoyed a social meeting of games and contests. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Geisel and Mrs. Frances McKenna. Mrs. William Trumpower was welcomed as a new member. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served with Mrs. Delmar Scott as chairman of the committee. The next meeting will be held July 16 at 7:30 p. m. for a business session at the club house.

HOSTESSES ENTERTAIN WITH NUPTIAL EVENTS

The Misses Snider, Yauger and Zelenka Feted With Showers; Miss Mildred Yarnell Discloses Engagement; Honor Mrs. Lee.

SOME of the most delightful entertaining of the year is that done for brides and brides-to-be during the month of June. Last night was a particularly popular time for such festivities. Mrs. Howard Richards and Mrs. Robert Portner entertained with a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home, 146½ South Diamond street, for Miss Ruth Snider, who will become the bride of Robert Lyon, Caledonia, at the First Christian church here Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Various games were the diversion of the evening with prizes being awarded to Miss Ruth Winkler, Mrs. Cecil Friend and Mrs. Richard Linn. The winners presented their gifts to the bride-elect.

A buffet luncheon was served from a long table decorated with blue and yellow lighted tapers and a centerpiece of roses. Notes discovered all over the house directed the honoree to her shower of gifts. The hostesses gave Miss Snider a gift of crystal bedroom lamps.

At last night's affair Miss Snider told her friends that Mrs. Richards would serve as her matron of honor, while the future bridegroom's sister, Miss Mildred Lyon, will be bridesmaid, Mr. Richards will be best man, and the ushers will be Bernard and Richard Lyon, brothers of the prospective bridegroom, and Harlow Schumaker and Robert Portner.

The approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Yarnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Yarnell, South Main street, was disclosed to a group of Mansfield friends last night when Miss Mildred Shively, Mrs. Dorothy Sheidler and Miss Leona Snyder entertained with a dessert-bridge party. The guests were a group of Mansfield teachers who had been associated with Miss Yarnell before she went to Wilmette, Ill., to teach.

She will become the bride of Robert Wilson of Wilmette in the near future, although no date was announced for the wedding.

Dessert Party

A dessert course was served at small tables centered with green and white candles surrounded by mock orange blossoms. Each place was marked with a tiny sprinkling can. The quest of honor was given a shower of pyrex ware. Bridge awards, which were presented to the bride-elect, were won by Miss Lucille Lorow and Miss Florence Berry.

Miss Yarnell was also feted last week-end at a tea given by Mrs. Ralph Smith, Shaker Heights.

A kitchen shower was given in honor of Mrs. LaVerle Lee, the former Miss Dorothy Riddle, last night when Mrs. Eugene Hartwell, Ruth avenue, Miss Lucille Baked, Mrs. Martha Tinkey and Miss Edna Dean, entertained. Alarm clocks signaling at various places in the house directed the recent bride to her shower gifts.

Places were laid for 15 at the small tables which were decorated in pastel shades. Bridge, hearts and pinochle were played with prizes going to Mrs. Thomas Lebacher, Miss Betty Eberhardt and Mrs. Russell Moore.

Miss Dorothy Yauger, who will become the bride of James M. Polatty of Columbia, S. C., on July 20, was feted with a linen shower yesterday evening by three of her sisters in Delta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority, Miss Bettie Myers, Miss Betty Goddard and Mrs. Eugene Earick entertained at the latter's home on Davis road.

This was a dessert-bridge party, and the dessert course was served at a long table, centered with a gumdrop tree, while the guests' places were marked by gumdrop corsages. Prizes in the bridge games, which were in play at two tables, were won by Mrs. Earl Herrick and Mrs. Frank Burger, who presented them to the honoree. In addition to the shower of linen gifts from the guests, Miss Yauger received a gift of linen from the hostesses.

Plan Sunday Affair.

On Sunday afternoon, Mrs. H. V. Henness and her daughters, Mrs. John Chatlain of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Charles McMullen, will fete the bride-elect with a shower at the McMullen home on Park avenue west. Miss Yauger is leaving early next week for the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Yauger, in Thompson, Ga., where she will be married at the Methodist church.

Another in the series of nuptial parties honoring Miss Ruth Zelenka was given yesterday evening by six of her Chi Sigma sorority sisters at The Woods near Ashland. The affair was a dessert-bridge, and the guests were seated at five small tables. These were covered with pastel shaded organdy cloths and centered with summer flowers arranged in low bowls around pastel, floraly decorated umbrellas. Miniature replicas of these umbrellas in varying pastel colors marked the places of the guests.

The hostesses, Misses Naomi Stutz, Jane Cunningham, Eleanor Clingan, Marianne Springer, Betty Hammel and Mary Stater, presented the honoree with a chenille bedspread, and she received a shower of miscellaneous gifts from the guests. Bridge was the evening's diversion, and score prizes were awarded to the Misses Wilma Walker and Marjorie Rhoads.

Mrs. David C. Martin of Ashland, Mrs. Wilbur Upson and Mrs. David Martin are entertaining at the latter's home, 568 Coleman road, this evening with another shower for Miss Zelenka, who is the bride-elect of R. Wayne Sutton. The wedding will be solemnized Saturday afternoon before the altar of the Central Methodist church.

Continuing the series of prenuptial parties for Miss Mary Margaret Whisler, who will become the bride of Robert Dodson, Saturday, was the affair given last evening by her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Irwin Whisler, Mrs. Charles Whisler and Mrs. Jerome Whisler. The party was held at the former's home, South Main street.

Bridge was in play at three tables and score awards were given to Mrs. Marie Lorentz, Miss Rita Newcomer and Miss Ruth Dodson. Later the group surprised her with a shower of kitchen gifts. At the close of the evening the hostesses served a luncheon at small tables which were attractive with roses as a centerpiece. Other decorations were in keeping with the pink and white color scheme.

Tonight Miss Whisler will be entertained at a party given by her mother, Mrs. Mary Whisler, 127 North Benton street.

AWARD PRIZES.

Flight prizes were awarded to Mrs. Leopold Adams, Mrs. W. S. Tuttle, and Mrs. John Mahon yesterday at Possum Run golf course following the regular women's play. Bridge winners were Mrs. F. C. Strome, Mrs. Howard Straub and Mrs. Tuttle. The women will golf next Wednesday at 9 a. m.

Pupils Shouldn't Mark Papers

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Ever so many letters have been coming from parents concerning the grading of papers in school by the pupils exchanging them, or by one or two pupils of the class assigned to this duty. Writes one reader:

"Dear Dr. Myers: I have been reading your articles in the paper and enjoy them very much. I am saving them for a 'scrap book' to pass on to some of my friends.

"I am not a teacher. I have a niece in the junior year in a neighboring high school, who makes high grades. Her teacher allows her to grade papers while the other children in her room take the examinations. She says she sees the different ones that copy and cheat, and that when she is grading she gives that pupil a low grade. I told her to stop grading for the teacher, as this would make her very unpopular with pupils . . . Is it right to have one pupil grade the rest?"

This is my answer:

When I was a lad in the country school, I remember that a certain teacher used to have us exchange spelling papers and mark the wrong words as the teacher spelled the words. By and by, Charley Atkinson and I, who used to sit near each other, made a deal agreeing to be blind to some errors as we followed the teacher. Occasionally one of us, however, charged the other with not being liberal enough.

When I later taught in that same school, I occasionally had spelling papers exchanged and corrected, only I named the pairs who were to exchange, and not the same ones twice. Even then, I soon discovered that the scheme invited dissatisfaction and abandoned it. I never did have one pupil grade the papers of all the rest.

Nowadays, some teachers have children mark themselves or one another on one or several subjects almost daily, and since speed testing is so much in fashion, this practice seems to have been growing rapidly.

Teacher Should Grade.

Tests now and then that are not against the watch have merit. In addition to letting the teacher know how well she has taught a unit of work, the test stimulates the pupil to want to be prepared. But I have come to believe that, excepting practice tests to be graded by the child himself, as a rule, no more tests or written work should be required than the teacher herself has time to examine and grade. Tests usually should be short.

In case the student is set to do the grading he should, I believe, be one who can do it well, preferably with a "key," and be selected from a class one or several grades higher. When a child in his own class is set to mark papers of his classmates the hazards to him and the other students' morale is very great.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"I'll try to be back within the hour," I told Nurse Whitlock, and hurried away to the kitchen.

But I had no time to dwell upon Edith just at present. I must obey my father's injunction to have the halls absolutely clear, and nobody looking out of the windows while the impersonators of Mary and Noel left for the rendezvous with Jack Leslie's men.

To my relief Jim was in the kitchen when I entered. Katie might be tempted to forget my injunction, and try to "take vun leetle peek" at the strange things which were happening, but Jim was like a rock of dependability, and I lost no time in making my father's wishes known.

"My father wishes you to stay where you are until I come back here," I said. "And he especially directs that you are to pull down the curtains at once, and not look out the windows."

"Oh-h-h!" Katie exclaimed, her eyes shining. "Me, I tink sumting very foony und beeg happening. Missis Graham, eef I cross my heart, hope to die I nefer say vun vord to anybody, couldn't I take shoost vun leetle peek?"

"I'm sorry, Katie," I said, "but my father's orders are most strict."

"And they'll be obeyed," Jim said sternly, walking to the windows, and lowering the shades. "Now, Katie, my girl, if you want any more lights, you turn on the electricity. I'll be staying right here until you come back, so you don't need to worry about anything."

I left the room precipitately and made my way to the library. Lillian was not there when I went in, but came before I had time to range up and down the floor more than twice.

"What's nibbling at the nerve-ends?" she demanded in a low voice when she had closed the door.

"You are," I told her with a wry smile. "It seemed to me you had something not so pleasant on your mind when you asked me to come down here."

"I have," she said grimly, "but first I'll run up and tell your father the coast is clear. Your section is all right, I know, or you wouldn't be here."

"Yes, there'll be no difficulty," I told her, and she went swiftly out of the room upon the assurance, pausing at the door only long enough to say, "I'll be right back."

Left alone, I could only resume my ranging of the room, for I found it impossible to sit still. And it was thus that Lillian found me when she came back.

"Sit down!" she said, pulling up chairs. "I won't tell you a thing unless you get yourself in hand."

I forced my muscles and my will to obedience, and took the chair she pushed toward me. She sat down in one opposite, and then leaned forward and scrutinized my face.

"Pull yourself together!" she commanded sharply. "and prepare to face something which may not come off. But I think both Harry and the Dicky-bird are planning to go on this expedition for the fooling of Jack Leslie."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 28.

Although there may be some trivial upsets or sudden visitations of minor consequence, judging by the lunar aspects, on the whole there should be quiet, steady progress in the direction of fulfilled ambitions. This may be attained by sound and workable plans built on constructive ideas rather than by snap judgments or spectacular gestures.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year in which virtue may reap its own rewards, this through steady, persistent and well thought-out efforts attracting the solid support of those of influence or financial ability for development. Propositions based on worthy ideals having more than the sordid aim of private gain, may have strong appeal to those willing to assist in promoting welfare organizations.

A child born on this day although having high ideals, spiritual impulses and deep aspirations for the common weal, yet should be steady, industrious and fairly ambitious.

Plantain-Lily for Edgings.

Plantain-lily, also known as the Japanese day-rose, or Hosta is listed in many catalogues as Funkia. These plants are excellent for growing in sunny or even partially shaded borders. Frequently they are used as formal edgings along walks or driveways. Still another use is as a ground cover for lily-beds. The foliage of the funkia provide protection for the other lily bulbs and the flowers blend well with those of the taller lilies.

As shown in the accompanying illustration, the flowers of the funkia are lily-like. Certain species have white flowers, while others are of a blue-lavender color. The foliage of the various species differ, some leaves being variegated, others are a solid green, and there is one variety which has blue-gray leaves.

Funkia is a hardy perennial which is propagated by division. In winter the foliage dies down to the ground.

In washing silk lingerie, rinse every third time in water to which lemon juice has been added (one tablespoon lemon juice to each gallon of water). This gives life and brilliancy to silk, and the effect seems to hold through about three washings.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHEN A SQUEEZE WORKS

REMEMBER this point about a squeeze play. There are exceptions to it, but very few. It is this: If you are able to run all but one of the remaining tricks to be played, you may put the pinchers on the enemy in case he has to guard two suits. But if you can run all but two of the remaining tricks, you usually cannot worry him. Then he usually will be able to select his discards without marring his hand. One way to correct this sometimes is to give him one trick at the outset, then run the string so as to oblige him to give up his remaining chance for another.

West led his club 5, the J winning. South had heard about squeeze plays, but never studied them much. He decided to run off the eleven tricks he saw, and try to embarrass West between hearts and the last club. First he took six diamond tricks, then the club A and K, and re-entered dummy with the spade A. With three cards left in each hand, East guarded spades, in which he had given a high-low signal telling West to protect other things. West had two hearts and the club Q. So declarer could get only one more trick, with the heart A, losing the last two, so took eleven himself.

If South had planned better he might have scored twelve tricks. After winning the first trick with the club J, he could have given a spade trick and won any return. Then he could have taken the remaining high club, spade A and his string of diamonds. As he played the last diamond, he would have held also the club 8 and heart 3 in dummy, with the spade 9 and heart A-J in his own hand. The spade would go on the last diamond. West, with his two hearts and club Q, would have to discard one, thereby building a trick for the declarer. What's that? West could spoil this with a heart return when he won the spade? Righto. But the only squeeze chance was to trust him not to do that.

Tomorrow's Problem.

BERRY CREAM SALAD (for 6)

6 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup Ann Page Salad Dressing
2 tablespoons sugar
1 pint berries*
½ cup cream, whipped
Salad greens

Add lemon juice, sugar and half the salad dressing to cheese; beat until creamy. Fold in berries carefully to an old-fashioned. Pack into bread loaf tin which has been lined with waxed paper. Place in refrigerator to stiffen. Unmold. Serve at once with a dressing made by combining cream with remaining salad dressing. A few whole berries may be served for garnish. 6 servings.

*Any berries in season, diced peaches, apricots or pineapple may be used as desired.

A dream of a dish . . . this "dessert salad" has just enough sweetness, just enough crispness. And imagine serving this gorgeous salad so economically! (The cost is based on average prices in A&P self service stores.) It's just one of the numerous treats thriftily prepared with A&P-made foods!

LOOKS A THREAD SHEERER— WEARS A THREAD LONGER!

Thank the business girl for this revolution in a budget-priced stocking! She was turning her stockings inside-out, for a duller appearance and greater resistance to snags. So the Roman Stripe makers, using their luxurious "inside-out" construction, developed a special 3-thread stocking priced for the secretary's budget. No unsightly, scraggy heels—no bulging seams—but you have the complexion-like bloom of an all-silk stocking knit inside out.

State Department Moves to Protect U. S. Interests

RUMOR BATTLE FLEET ON WAY TO NEW YORK

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—With the French empire lying temporarily in ruins and the British menaced by the threat of a devastating blow from Adolf Hitler's grey-clad warriors, the state department moved rapidly today to meet the changed situation in world affairs and protect American interests.

Highly important in these defensive moves was believed to be the mysterious movement of the American battle fleet from its Hawaiian base.

Whether the fleet is moving east or west, no one in Washington but the highest officials really know. They are silent. Consensus earlier this week was that the fleet was en route to the Orient to checkmate any possible Japanese aggression. Today, however, a source close to the navy department advanced the opinion that the big battle-wagons would move soon into New York harbor.

His information was that the administration, worried over the possible defeat or immobilization of the British fleet, was preparing to thwart any contemplated German attempt to seize Iceland or Greenland.

Greenland particularly is considered by the administration as within the defensive scope of the Monroe Doctrine. Officials have indicated that the United States would resist, with force if necessary, any attempt to seize it. It might be used as an enemy air base for attacks upon the United States.

Likewise, as is known, this government is concerned with reported German-Italian fifth column activities in South America. Latest evidence of this concern was dispatch yesterday of three more navy ships to South American waters.

Marking the first time that the west coast of South America has been selected for any of the current "good will visits" by naval craft, the light cruiser Phoenix was ordered to Valparaiso, Chile; the gunboat Erie was commanded to proceed to Guayaquil, Ecuador, and the survey ship Bushnell was ordered to leave Panama Saturday "to survey the Ecuadorean coast."

Meanwhile, administration officials are giving serious consideration to the problem raised by hundreds of millions of dollars worth of French gold and the French merchant ships presently held in the United States.

Under the armistice terms signed with Germany, the reich claimed authority over both the gold and merchant vessels of its defeated enemy.

If Germany should demand, through the French government that it now controls, that the gold deposits and ships be returned to France, subject to possible German confiscation, the United States would be faced with a delicate problem. Legally, they belong to France. Yet, knowing that they might fall into German hands and be used in the prosecution of the war with Great Britain, the administration is loath to take any action that would work against the London government, to whom it has promised full aid by measures "short of war."

SHOWERS DUE

It may not rain today—but look out for tomorrow. Generally fair is predicted for tonight, but the weatherman promises showers and thunder storms for tomorrow afternoon and no one doubts that he'll keep his promise.

And there will be but little change in temperature. The temperature at noon today was exactly that of yesterday's maximum—69 degrees. During the night the mercury dropped to 52. Yesterday's rainfall measured .11 of an inch.

SERVICES HELD

ASHLAND — Funeral services for Leo P. Meininger, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Meininger of near Savannah, were held at the St. Edward's Catholic church this morning, with Father William E. Rooney officiating. Burial was made in the Savannah cemetery.

The youth, a resident of this county only eight months, was instantly killed in a truck-bicycle accident north of Ashland on route 58 Tuesday afternoon.

PEACE RUMORS NOT BELIEVED

but on the contrary all official statements in London have indicated a determination to continue the fight. Both the stories mentioned above have been categorically denied.

Rumors spring from such thin soil that it doesn't take much to get them started. Take the report about Sir Samuel Hoare. While he undoubtedly hasn't made any peace overtures, I should be much surprised if he hasn't been sounding to see what the German temper was.

What business could a war-time ambassador possibly have in the capital of an intermediary nation (as is Spain) if it wasn't to keep a finger on the pulse of the enemy to determine how he felt about peace? It is easy to see how such an inquiry might leak out and create an erroneous impression.

The British ministry declared in a statement last night that Britain is facing the coming struggle "with confidence." It added that England hasn't "the slightest intention" of laying down her arms without a fight and "is determined to carry the struggle through to a victorious end."

It is my personal view that this is a fair statement of the present attitude of the British government and public toward peace. I don't believe they have any present intention of quitting.

But I am bound to say that their present intention (and I repeat that word "present") is going to be put to a very terrible test in the immediate future.

Will that intention weaken if the Germans are able to give England the "blood-bath" they have threatened, and the roads of the little country are jammed with helpless women and children fleeing death?

Englishmen don't quit under fire for sake of their own safety. But we must recognize that the bulk of Britain's population of 46 millions is centered in the congested areas of the heart of the country. What will happen if and when the Nazi bombs begin to rain down on this crowded area? Will the Briton's determination and bravery be able to stand it?

We shall have to wait and see. I think we had better admit now there always is the possibility that it might be necessary to surrender England itself to save slaughter of civilians. Then the government might, as it has declared, transfer its activities to Canada and carry on from there.

Has England a chance to defeat Germany?

In my view—yes. Without question Britain has a terrific task cut out for her, but nobody has this war in a sack yet.

STILL MYSTERY

Police Are Without Clues In Attempt to Burn Auto.

Police today were without any further clues concerning the mysterious attempt to set fire to an automobile or cause an explosion in a barn owned by James M. Grau, 350 South Main street, Monday night.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said he had not yet conferred with investigating officers as to the motive for the firing of Grau's automobile.

Officers yesterday said the front seat of the car had been burned and an attempt was made to set off an explosion in the gasoline tank of the machine.

TWO CHURCHES HOLD PICNICS

Shelby Presbyterian Event Attended by More Than 100 Persons.

SHELBY — Annual picnics of the Sunday school departments of First Presbyterian and Evangelical and Reformed churches were held this week at Seltzer park.

The Presbyterian church school outing had more than 100 members in attendance Wednesday. A basket picnic following the recreational program was featured. Committees included table, Mrs. Hugh Hildebrandt and Mrs. Fred Ott; refreshment, Stacy Haun and Chester Bell; games, Robert Shreffler and Harry Woodruff, and transportation, Fred Ott.

Members of the Sunday school department of First Evangelical and Reformed church are gathered today at the park for their annual outing. A picnic supper will be held at the park shelter house at 6:30 p. m.

CAMP TO CLOSE

Picnic Tomorrow Will End Y. W. C. A.'s Summer Event.

A picnic tomorrow will close the Y. W. C. A.'s summer daytime camp which has been operating for the past three weeks.

At 9 a. m. all of the girls who attended camp will meet at South park, bringing individual picnic lunches and their bathing suits.

In the morning, there will be an archery tournament, woodcraft and first aid demonstrations, with a pageant and a swim at Senior high pool. The girls will return to South park for luncheon and the afternoon will be spent at games and group singing.

Camp councilors, who have done volunteer work as instructors during the camp, will also attend the picnic.

Grotto Gets Set To Eat Fish--150 Pounds of Them

Baku Grotto placed an order for 150 pounds of fish today to be used tomorrow when the members and guests get together at G. B. U. park for the organization's annual fish fry.

Howard Schuck, monarch, said the festivities are scheduled to begin at 2 p. m. and will continue throughout the evening.

The program which includes a baseball game during the afternoon between two teams selected from the membership has been arranged by John B. Conard, Master of Ceremonies, and Harry Colbow, marshal.

In the evening, guests will be treated to moving pictures of the European war showing the sinking of the Graf Spee and including photographs of Hitler's conquest of the low countries and scenes of actual fighting in France.

CROWD SEES HOGAN PUPILS STAGE 18TH ANNUAL REVUE

More than 100 youngsters took part in it, and were presented in solo work, teams and groups. Dale Stevens' orchestra provided the music. It was the 18th time that the Hogan studio has presented revues in Mansfield. For a number of years they have been given under the sponsorship of Camp Charles Dick, United Spanish War Veterans.

Outstanding number on the program was the ballet, "Pipes Of Pan" in which 41 students took part. It depicted the pranks of Pan who made the flock of the shepherd disappear while the latter was sleeping. The queen of the nymphs and the elves arrive to assist the shepherd in looking for his lost flock. The ballet was colorfully staged, with appropriate costumes for the various groups taking part in it. Leading roles in it were danced by Martha Earline Metcalf, Mary Lou Kubic, Mary Jane Howell and Joan Kullman.

A second and small ballet, danced to the music of "Tales of a Vienna Woods" brought rounds of applause. Young Tommy McNew, jr., who has been participating in the Hogan revues since he was four years old, was one of the outstanding hits, judging from audience reaction.

Other outstanding hits in the show were "Me and My Shadow" by Joan Kullman and Martha Metcalf; a "Blackbirl Fantasy" by Norma Jane Howell; and a military tap on a drum. All of the acts, which followed in quick precision, were well received by the audience and many of the older students who have been in other revues were given recognition on their appearances.

Mrs. Marty Hogan, director of the school, was in charge of production and she was assisted by Miss Metcalf, Miss June Ford, and Miss Helen Martin, staff instructors. Mrs. M. B. Kubic was accompanist, and the colorful and attractive costumes were designed and executed by Mrs. L. C. Marshall, and her assistant, Mrs. Marie Lighthill.

Dodson's World's Fair Show to Be In City Next Week

Officers of the Mansfield Building Trades council today announced sponsorship of the appearance in Mansfield of Dodson's World's Fair shows next week from Monday through Saturday with both afternoon and evening performances.

The show will set up at the Bowman street showgrounds and special attractions have been planned for the Fourth of July week observance.

The show has a personnel of 650 persons, advance agents said, and equipment is carried on 40 railroad cars a number of trailer trucks traveling overland.

It includes an animal exhibit of lions, gorillas, monkeys, ponies and dogs; several lavishly staged girl revues; a motor drome; side shows; and 20 rides, advance agents said.

Featured attractions, according to the agents, include "Chez La-Femme" a girl revue, Alzora "the turtle girl" and Rosa Lee, "the armless marvel."

The show will arrive at 3 p. m. Sunday. Food supplies have already been ordered from Mansfield establishments. The Mansfield Building Trades Council will share in the proceeds from the week's engagement.

MILLERSBURG GIRL MARRIES

Marjorie Uhl Weds Cleveland Man Sunday In Manse At Keene.

MILLERSBURG—Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Uhl, Millersburg route 3, announced the marriage of their daughter, Marjorie N. Uhl, to Mr. John O. Baker of Cleveland, son of Mrs. Augusta Baker and the late Samuel Baker of near Coshocton.

The ceremony took place Sunday, June 23 at 12:30 p. m. in the manse at Keene, Ohio, with the Rev. Malcolm Koehler of the Clark Presbyterian church officiating. The couple was unattended.

The bride wore a street length dress of white chiffon with white accessories. Her only jewelry was a gold locket of her mother's and her corsage was sweet peas, white roses and Talmadge roses. The groom was dressed in a conventional blue suit.

For her going-away costume Mrs. Baker chose a dress of blue sheer.

Mrs. Baker was graduated from Clark high school with the class of 1935 and for the past three years has been employed as a telephone operator in the Millersburg office.

Mr. Baker graduated from Keene high school with the class of 1932 and from the Coyne Electrical school at Chicago. He also attended the Boyer Technical school at

The affair, which is held quarterly, will be sponsored by the Sunday school class directed by Charles Blust and D. R. Culler.

WILL UPHELD AS COURT RULES TESTATOR MENTALLY CAPABLE

ASHLAND — Decision in favor of the defendants was given in common pleas court here in the action of Amanda Looker vs. Barbara Hollinger and Ellen Oliver in which the plaintiff had sought to have set aside deeds of the late William H. Lambert.

The plaintiffs claimed that certain deeds to property in Londonville, which recently sold for $6,000, had been made by the deceased in favor of the defendants while he was under undue influence.

Judge H. E. Culbertson, who heard the case, decided in favor of the defendants, ruling that the deceased was mentally capable and under no undue influence at the time that he made the deeds.

He stated in his ruling that the question of mental capacity and of undue influence had to be tested at the time the execution of the deeds, and that practically all the evidence as to undue influence pertained to transactions subsequent to the date of the execution of the deeds.

START SURVEY OF MANSFIELD RACE PROBLEMS

Questionnaires To Be Sent 100 in City in Next 2 Weeks By Ashland College.

A survey on the race problem in Mansfield will get underway within the next two weeks, Dr. E. E. Jacobs, president of Ashland college, said today.

Requested by the Negro Citizens Welfare League of Mansfield, the survey will be done by the department of sociology of Ashland college.

Dr. Jacobs was in Mansfield yesterday, conferring with John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce on questionnaires that are to be sent to Mansfield persons.

Dr. Jacobs said he had asked several Mansfield citizens to prepare a list of 100 people in the city who would represent a cross section of opinion among professional people and business and industrial executives.

The questionnaire will be one that has been used in a number of American cities where similar surveys have been made. The questions will deal with actual or implied discriminations against members of the colored race, suggestions for solving problems of racial prejudice, education and recreation for colored citizens.

The questionnaires will be anonymous, so that no one will know from whom they came when they are returned to Dr. Jacobs, he said. Results of the survey will be turned over to the Negro Citizens' Welfare League.

SPEED MANIA

Alaska's 'Flying Dane' Seeks Faster Airplane.

SEATTLE, Wash.—(U.P.)—Alaska's "Flying Dane"—jovial Hakon Christensen of Cantwell—has the speed mania in a bad way.

"You gotta have speed when you fly over nothing in 40 degrees below," he exclaimed here in his search for a faster airplane.

Christenson flies mail, men and mining machinery between Anchorage, Cantwell and Valdez Creek. While in the United States he purchased new skis for his plane for winter landings.

According to the tall, veteran pilot, an Alaskan plane must be prepared to land in snow, ice or mud. Speed and dexterity are needed in the far north to a much larger degree than in the states, he explained, because of the weather.

WARNS RICHLAND FARMERS OF DISEASE THREATENING HOGS

With a larger swine population this year in Ohio, "necro," or necrotic enteritis in hogs is expected to offer an increasing threat to Richland county hog growers.

The disease, which causes a huge loss annually in hog-producing sections, can best be combatted by moving hogs out of old contaminated lots to fresh pasture, veterinarians said.

They warned farmers against co-called "cures" for the disease which usually don't work. The best method to stamp out the malady is to take infected animals away from the others and provide a careful course of treatment for the ailing hogs, it was said.

County Agent George B. Ganyard pointed out that a few cases of the disease are usually found in the county and about two years ago last winter there was an epidemic of it in some sections.

Symptoms of the disease include loss of weight on good rations, dry skins, and a prominent backbone.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

U. S. Navy Starts Work on First Super-Dreadnaught

BIG STORE OF WAR MATERIAL BEING SOUGHT

$20,000,000 Trade Loan to Argentine Made to Halt Nazi Activities.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States laid down the keel of its first 45,000-ton super-dreadnaught today and on a less dramatic defense front sought vast stores of strategetically vital rubber and tin.

Start of work on the battleship Iowa at the Brooklyn navy yard and opening of negotiations by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for essential war materials typified the divergent activity of the preparedness program.

South America continued to figure prominently in the developments. The Export-Import bank granted a $20,000,000 trade loan to Argentina yesterday just as intensive Nazi economic activity was reported there. The navy, with three warships in the South Atlantic, ordered three more to the South Pacific, and government plans proceeded for financing Latin-American development of crude rubber production.

The national defense commission meanwhile pursued discussions with Packard Motor company for mass production of aircraft engines on a joint U. S.-British order. The talks followed the collapse Tuesday of negotiations with Henry Ford, who refused any but exclusively American defense contracts.

The 45,000-ton Iowa—largest battleswagon ever put on the ways for the navy—marked the beginning of a construction program which will add four huge capital ships to the fleet. It will be between 3 and 4 years before the 45,000-tonners are completed, however.

Notice of bargaining for rubber and tin was given yesterday by Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, not long after President Roosevelt signed the bill which authorized the RFC to finance acquisition of strategic raw materials.

Merchants Hold 'Goodwill Dinner' in Perrysville.

The annual summer goodwill dinner of the Retail Merchant's association was held last night at the Methodist church in Perrysville, with 130 employers, employes and their wives in attendance.

Before the chicken dinner, served by women of the church, there was a ball game between teams of members of the association, with Jack Clarke, News-Journal advertising manager, as umpire.

Entertainment was provided by the students of the Eugene Smart studio and William Ross, chairman of the program committee, served as chairman of the meeting. Eugene Gump presented a comedy act.

TRAFFIC DEATH

KENT—(AP)—Charles Rastetter, 60, of Lewisville was killed in an odd traffic accident on route 224 near here yesterday. Hurled through the windshield as his automobile and an Akron-Alliance bus collided, he was run over by a truck.

Red Plot to Murder Ship Officers Foiled

A new "crop" of sales tax stamps has been harvested by the Junior Red Cross and is up in bales ready to be sent to the tax office for redemption. They will bring in $208 in cash, and were gathered by Junior Red Cross members all over the city. Several thousand stamps were counted and bound together. The Junior Red Cross spends the tax redemption money on glasses for underprivileged school children and since Sept. 1, last year has purchased 69 pairs at a cost of $573. The tax stamp redemption has provided the Junior Red Cross with a bonanza for in former years the youngsters had to gather up old papers and magazines for its program.

A Mansfield person who is probably bemoaning the loss of a purse while on a motor trip through eastern Ohio will be in for a pleasant surprise on reaching home. Police were informed today by the state highway patrol at Massillon that a purse "containing a large sum of money" was found on route 39 at Highlandtown in Columbania county and that the owner, whose Mansfield address was found in the purse could claim the money at a gasoline filling station there by identifying themselves.

A difference of one day can mean a lot to a fisherman with the urge to try new fishing waters, County Game Warden C. I. Kimmel and The News-Journal found today. Because of an error in a news release from Columbus, The News-Journal yesterday listed the opening of the fishing season at Charles Mill reservoir as June 30 instead of July 1. Within a short time Kimmel was swamped with calls from fishermen who wanted to know if they could use the lake a day sooner than they expected. The state division of conservation, however, corrected the error, explaining that the season will not open until July 1.

Even if J. A. Gosling had been a physician instead of a state highway patrolman he couldn't have prescribed much except a bandage of scaffolding for the victim of an accident to which he was called last night on U. S. 30-N near Hayesville. Because the victim was a concrete bridge, Gosling reported that the air coupling failed on a large four-wheeled trailer of a truck being driven east by Frank Eason, 38, of Detroit. The trailer got out of control and swung into the concrete rail of the bridge. With the trailer somewhat damaged and the driver unhurt, Gosling listed the bridge as the principal casualty.

INSTITUTES SET

Officers From 8 Farm Groups Draft Plans for Programs.

Officers of eight farmers' institutes in Richland county set up tentative plans for their 1941 institutes at a meeting last night at the courthouse.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said the group made tentative selections of state speakers and dates to submit to the state department of agriculture for approval.

Plans will not be announced until after approval is given and dates are set at a meeting early next fall, Ganyard said.

Attending the session were representatives of institute organizations at Adario, Shenandoah, Ontario, the Weller-Mifflin-Franklin township community, Lucas, Bellville, Lexington, and Butler.

SCHOOL RACKET SPREADS HERE

Sheriff Says Fake Operator Gets Funds in Lucas and at Crestline.

An alleged aeronautics and electrical school representative who has been sought by Mansfield police for nearly a week was still operating in the Mansfield area today, but he apparently has changed his name and tactics.

Sheriff E. P. Long and his deputies joined in the search after a Lucas man said he lost $30 after signing an "agreement" with the man to attend an electrical school in Chicago.

Other complaints came to the sheriff from west of Mansfield and it was understood that Crestline officers also have a warrant for the arrest of the "salesman."

The Lucas man and persons west of the city said the man gave his name as R. G. Hornbarger. Mansfield police were searching for a "salesman" who gave his name as Walter Bismark, allegedly representing a California aeronautics school, but authorities believe the same man has worked the racket in Mansfield and outside the city.

County authorities learned that the alleged salesman collected a "down payment" on a course in the electrical school and got the prospective pupils to sign enrollment blanks.

City and county officers and John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, requested that young men who are approached by salesmen with electrical and air school proposals consult them before signing enrollment blanks or making tuition deposits.

Gallery Applause Can't Be Counted In Vote Summaries

PHILADELPHIA — Convention applause comes in two sizes—shrieks from the gallery and wails from the floor. The noises rising from the floor can be blittered and basted into votes. You cannot do anything about the noises from the gallery except open the skylight a little wider.

Both photograph well on the radio. If you were listening to the nomination speeches, you heard Mr. Willkie elected by the "we the people" in the galleries. The "we the delegates" contingent on the floor studied its nails for a long time and finally said "rah, rah" in non-inspiring tones.

Boy, conventionitis is sumpin'. Nerves—well! Saviors of the nation, delegates awoke this morning to find themselves saved from a gag one newspaper took seriously. It was that there was a plot afoot (why can't plots get a hoss occasionally) to bomb the convention. Could be that a comic strip along that line fired some one's imagination. Let's forget it.

There was a Willkie demonstration. We will concede that putt. But it moved, shall we say, on leaden feet. It did not surge so much as it sagged. It sent us flying back to our teacup for another look at the leaves.

Let us now say a word for the platform. It has planks of study oak alternating with chestnut and wistful pine. It is collapsible and can be stored in the White House storm cellar. Republicans say the Democratic platform of 1932 lies there covered with dust. They cannot find the 1936 platform.

The last Republican platform, built in 1936 to fit Alf Landon, turned out to be a toboggan licensed for coasting only in Maine and Vermont.

We have been saving Mr. Dewey for the latest readings on the barometer. From here at an early hour it looked like clear but the fuzz hadn't settled. It might turn out Dewey after all.

GIRL, 15, DIES

Miriam Brownson Succumbs at Home in Ashland.

ASHLAND—Miss Miriam Lucile Brownson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Brownson, 622 Grant street, died early today at her home after an illness of six and a half years. She had been bedfast for the past six weeks. She was born in Ashland Oct. 22, 1926.

Surviving are her parents, two sisters, Betty and Marylu and two brothers, Robert and Mickey, all at home, her grandparents, Mrs. Mary Brownson of Ashland and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown of Nashville.

Funeral services will be held at the United Brethren church Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. G. B. Weatherbee.

BATTLE TAKES PLACE ON BOAT AT NORFOLK, VA.

(By International News Service)

NORFOLK, Va. —(AP)— An asserted Communist plot to murder the official personnel of the Esthonian freighter Kotkas and take over the ship was reported foiled early today by fiercely-battling officers of the vessel.

According to the story told by the ship's officers, this is what happened:

Led by a giant Russian known only as Ranalla, five firemen who had boasted, since Russia absorbed Esthonia, that "all on the ship are of equal rank," cut off all the ship's lights and then launched an attack on the Kotkas' officers. The mutineers also sought to attack two women members of the crew, as the Esthonian vessel lay at anchor in Norfolk harbor.

The second officer of the Kotkas, as yet unidentified, drew his revolver and blazed away at the mutineers. Ranalla was shot down, a bullet through one leg.

Capt. Kallas and other officers waded into the mutineers with swinging fists, while First Officer Onni turned in a riot call.

When police arrived, the wounded Ranalla and his four companions, all badly battered, were huddled amidships in abject surrender.

Capt. Kallas said that the men had been in an ugly mood and had persistently refused to obey orders since they heard of the Russian conquest of Esthonia. The captain expressed the belief that the seamen are Communists, and that the move to seize his vessel was Communist-inspired.

One of the Kotkas' officers said that he had heard reports that Ranalla intended to try to sail the vessel across the Atlantic and turn it over to Russian authorities, after the officers were murdered.

$1,000 NEEDED

Red Cross Plans to Wind Up War Relief Drive Soon.

Little more than $1,000 is needed to complete the second quota of the Richland County Red Cross for war relief work, and efforts are being made to raise that amount within the next few weeks, according to D. O. Meese, general chairman of the drive.

Two quotas of $6,000 each have brought in $10,968 today, Meese said today, leaving $1,032 to be raised.

The fund jumped considerably this week when Shelby reported that it had reached its second quota, making $2,600 in all. In the last few days $101 has come in from subscription blanks sent to Mansfield residents by national magazines.

Meese said that a number of persons in Mansfield have not yet contributed because they have not been solicited, and urged these to send their contributions directly to Red Cross headquarters in the Bowers building.

OPENS JEWELRY STORE FRIDAY

Fox Opens New Establishment at 12 Park Avenue West.

Topping 18 years as a jewelry store manager in Mansfield, Sam Fox, 163 Carpenter road, will open a new jewelry store Friday at 12 Park avenue west to be known as Sam Fox, Inc.

The new store, which will be open to the public tomorrow from noon until 10 p. m., has been fronted with carrara plate glass. Interior equipment is in blond oak finish and fluorescent lighting will be used.

Fox said today that the store will carry a complete line of watches, diamonds, cameras, clocks, silverware and rings.

OLD JOE DIES

ATTORNEY DIES

ATHENS—(AP)—Services will be held Friday for Evan J. Jones, 91, Ohio university trustee since 1892 and oldest member of the Athens county bar association. He died yesterday.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Can't Print That.

(This is a compendium of tales that can't be told with names, because they're too true to print. If there is any resemblance in them to actual persons—living or dead—you've probably guessed right.)

Sally X. is a girl columnist in a city almost as big as New York, highly successful and regarded by her prominent friends as an out-of-town Dorothy Parker. She was deeply in love with a young lawyer, and he with her, but they couldn't be married because he had almost no practice and very slim prospects of ever getting more. She decided to try to help him by introducing him to all her influential acquaintances, and through her he met several prospective clients, including a wealthy dowager whose husband was a big industrialist, and whose daughter was a titled four-times-married playgirl.

The young lawyer impressed the dowager and her daughter, and when the rich industrialist died suddenly, the elderly widow engaged Sally's fiance to handle the estate. Sally, of course, was elated—the job was one which would reap a steady retaining fee, so they could afford to be married at once.

But they weren't. The young lawyer, working on the accounts of the estate, learned exactly how much money the dowager had inherited—so although he was in his early thirties, and she in her late sixties, he married the wealthy widow!

But you can't print that. They're very contentedly married, so everybody's happy but Sally.

Natacha is a beautiful Russian import to the celluloid, and she did pretty well in films until she got into a scandal that involved keys, and the producers decided Hollywood could live without her. So she came east and got a job on the stage.

Then her play went on the road, one of the stops was Scranton, and in Scranton she's still a celebrity, so her press agent arranged for her to be received by the Mayor. Natacha trekked to the city hall, ready to pose prettily for the news photogs. But she's not familiar with American mayoral customs, so when his honor presented her with a big gold key to the city she stalked angrily away.

"What are you trying to do," she blushed, "rib me?"

But you can't print that. She's taken enough kidding already.

Vittorio Y. is a gangster now awaiting trial in the Murder, Inc., case. He's one of the lads who used to drive the cars carrying the slain bodies and help dump the evidence—a very tough, very bad lad.

You'd never think that Vittorio's present plight would be of interest to a substantial citizen, but there happens to be a high official of one of Brooklyn's biggest banks who would give anything if O'Dwyer would just let Vittorio go and forget the whole thing.

Because the banker, Mr. Z. employed Vittorio when Murder, Inc., wasn't using him. He hired the mob lad to act as gigolo for Mrs. Z., while he (the respected banker) did the night spots with one of his two girl friends!

But you can't print that. There's a chance—just a chance—that it won't come out at the trial, and why embarrass the poor fellow in advance?

Mimi A is one of the most beautiful girls who ever gave New York something to stare at. When she was in a Broadway show, the stage door Johnnies made the stage door alley look like a mass meeting, and she was wooed by several of the better-known millionaires around El Morocco. She finally married one of the most famous millionaires of all time—for money, everyone agreed. He was sort of a screwball fellow, so who would marry him for anything but money.

It was only a few weeks after their wedding that the wealthy bridegroom started playing around with his old sweethearts and inviting chorus girls up to his place for week-ends. It seemed inevitable that Mimi would divorce him, and she did, after he gave her a tremendous settlement.

Since then she's married again—this time a young and handsome millionaire who is, according to her friends, really her type.

But funnily enough, she's not happy. At least once a week she goes to the telephone and calls her first husband just to talk to him, and when he's out with a blond she talks to his mother.

Because Mimi has discovered that she's really in love with the fellow she once married for money!

Miss Q., one of the more ambitious of the pretty Park avenue girls, went to a famous producer on Broadway to ask for job, and was hired on the spot. She was told to report for work the next day, and when she reported at the office the following morning she was informed that her new boss wanted her to take dictation at his apartment. Miss Q. hurried over, only to find that her employer's ideas had nothing to do with stenography.

Shocked (and surprised, because the producer's wife is as young and pretty as she, and much more famous) Miss Q. excused herself from the room on some silly pretext, and fled from the apartment. She dispatched a telegram of resignation to her boss.

"Sorry," it said, "but you give dictation too fast for my experience."

But why print that? It's probably going on in a hundred offices along Broadway right now, so it's not news, is it?

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

(Last of Three Stories on Hollywood Extras)

By VERNON HOAGLAND

(Pinch-hitting for Robbin Coons)

HOLLYWOOD—The 7,000 movie extras in Hollywood, who scramble for jobs which hardly could support half their number, deal with the studios through three agencies.

Vance Carroll's also known as the Artist Casting Bureau—provides extras for such independents as Republic and Monogram.

F and K meets the needs of David O. Selznick, Edward Small, Frank Lloyd and others. (The name is taken from the first and last letters of the surname of its operator, Loretta Fitzpatrick.)

In former days extras found work through agents. Howard R. Philbrick, new chief of Central Casting, recalled that previously an extra might draw $3.50 pay and retain perhaps $1 after paying fees and commissions. In 1926 the producers' association set up Central Casting to provide extras work without charge.

"CENTRAL CASTING has been costing the producers $165,000 a year but has brought about little but ill will," said Philbrick.

"Extras charged that persons with 'pull' or persons willing to 'buy' jobs got the preference. I am discharging all Central Casting employes with relatives in the extra ranks and am taking action in every case where favoritism has been proved. I propose to rotate the work."

Some casting directors predict that Philbrick will meet opposition. Cecil B. DeMille, for example, has a "must" list of 225 former prominent actors and actresses who are first to be summoned for extra work.

"We'd like to see the work split up. But we insist upon getting extras whose work we know and can depend upon."

Miss Fitzpatrick says the extra problem never will have a satisfactory solution because of shifting demands of studios.

"When a Hawaiian picture is being made, we often have to borrow from the Mexican and Indian groups," she said. "When we have a society drama series, or a vogue in gangster pictures, it means work for a certain type and idleness for others."

SALVATION ARMY HEADS TO LEAVE

Major and Mrs. Brown Given Cleveland Charge; Take New Duties Next Week.

Major and Mrs. David Brown, in charge of the Salvation Army work in Mansfield for the past seven years, will leave Wednesday for a new post in Cleveland, it was announced today.

They have been transferred to the Cleveland Temple corps on East 152nd street and will take up their duties the latter part of next week. Replacing the Browns in the Mansfield corps will be Adjutant and Mrs. Paul Hoffman of Mt. Vernon, who have been in Mt. Vernon for the past four years.

Lieut. M. L. Cox, assistant to Major Brown, has been transferred to Salem where he will be assistant leader. His transfer, however, will be delayed for several weeks due to an auto accident in which Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Raines, of Salem, and formerly of the Mansfield corps, were seriously injured. The Raines' are scheduled to fill the vacancy at Mt. Vernon and until they are able to do so, Lieut. Cox will be in charge.

Major and Mrs. Brown came to Mansfield from Paterson, N. J., seven years ago and during their assignment in this city have been actively interested in community welfare work. Major Brown is president of the Mansfield Social Welfare club.

HARD WORK PAYS.

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. —(AP)— Three years of hard work on a 600-foot mining tunnel eventually paid Jack Cahill for his labor. He has encountered a rich vein of quicksilver and has $18,000 worth of ore on the dump awaiting treatment.

YAKIMA, Wash.—(AP)—The average monthly food consumption in six camps employing 2,700 WPA workers on the Columbia River reservoir lake clearance camps is 15,000 loaves of bread, 8,250 pies, 15 tons of beef, 2½ tons of lard, 3,500 pounds of fish, 1,550 pounds of cheese, 8,000 pounds of butter, 7,500 pounds of coffee and 2,600 gallons of canned milk.

10,000 Mile Talk

Though her son, Malcolm Douglass, a dog team driver with the United States Antarctic expedition, is 10,000 miles away, his mother, Mrs. John Douglass of East Orange, N. J., gives him the news from home by short wave radio.

Aug. 10 Set for Employes' Picnic At Westinghouse

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company launched plans this week for its annual employes' picnic to be held at Buckeye Lake park Aug. 10

The park will be taken over by Westinghouse for the day and preparations will be made to handle 14,000 people. Last year's picnic at Cedar Point brought out 11,000 and the general committee expects an increase of 3,000 this year.

Dancing, launch rides, swimming, roller skating, golf, and 10 concession rides will be free to all employes, their families and friends.

Approximately $500 worth of prizes will be awarded in the games and contests.

The general committee on arrangements is made up of Willis Park, general chairman; Ben Goodenough, Charles Jones and Matthew Mayer.

The picnic is sponsored by the Westinghouse Employes Athletic and Recreation association, which is made up of R. L. Odson, president; Miss Urith Funston, vice president; Ben Goodenough, secretary-treasurer; Howard Little, H. W. Arlin, E. G. Geiger, Paul Jesson, W. O. Parks, Max Williams, J. Simons and Frank Richards.

THEATERS

Based on Stage Hit.

Based on the Rachel Crothers stage hit, "Old Lady 31," "The Captain Is a Lady" brings together one of the largest casts of character players ever assembled on the screen. The picture is showing at the Ohio Friday only. The story is of an "old salt" who takes refuge from poverty in an old ladies' home, and the film affords an opportunity to such players as Charles Coburn, Beulah Bondi, Helen Broderick, Billie Burke and Helen Westley.

Baxter In Ghost Story.

Continuing through Friday at the Madison will be "Manhattan Heartbeat," with Joan Davis in the lead, and "Earthbound," starring Warner Baxter and Andrea Leeds. This is a strange tale of a murdered man who lives on after death, haunted by the friends he knew in life. Baxter plays the role of a wraith-like spirit, and as Nick Desborough he meets death early in the film at the hand of a woman out of his past.

Priceless Film of London.

Two reels of literally priceless film played an important part in "The Earl of Chicago" which shows Friday and Saturday at the Ritz. They are the background shots of famous English historical buildings and London street scenes. They were filmed for the picture which stars Robert Montgomery, a few days before London was hurriedly prepared for air raids. Many of these are now obscured by huge piles of sandbags. The film was flown to New York by clipper under guard. The co-feature is "Geronimo."

Rogers Sings New Numbers.

"They Shall Have Music" is the feature at the Park Friday and Saturday with Joel McCrea and Andrea Leeds in the starring roles. The second attraction is "Young Buffalo Bill" which is a Roy Rogers and Gabby Hayes picture. Rogers features two new songs "Blow Breeze Blow" and "Rollin' Down to Santa Fe." Pauline Moore is leading lady in this western.

Star Together Again.

Margaret Sulavan and James Stewart are reunited for the third time on the screen in "The Shop Around the Corner" which opens at the Majestic Friday for a two-day run. This is a human story of suspense, comedy and romance. The scene is in Budapest, not in the gay part of the city, but in the every-day working section. Tim McCoy has the lead in the western picture "Texas Renegades."

PEACE TALKS RETARD STOCK MARKET DEALS

NEW YORK — Wall Street tried to find a grain of comfort in domestic politics today and stock market leaders exhibited mild recovery tendencies.

Talk of a peace shift in Europe continued in boardrooms and was a restraining factor, especially for the war infants, brokers said.

Bonds edged forward, along with commodities. "Free" sterling and the Canadian dollar pushed up briskly, seemingly buoyed by peace rumors.

Among better stock performers —some subsequently lost momentum—were Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Consolidated Edison, Public Service of N. J., Pennsylvania, Westinghouse, Loft, J. C. Penney and DuPont.

On the side of the rails were estimates the nation's roads for 12 months ending June 30, would enjoy net income of about $180,000,000, which would be a peak for the past decade with one exception.

Market analysts studied the summary of the engineering news record which disclosed construction awards for the week ended Tuesday were off 64 per cent from the preceding week and 17 per cent under the corresponding 1939 period. Private awards, while 70 per cent below the previous week, topped the like week a year ago by 34 per cent.

Guest of Honor

Dr. C. E. Wishart, above, president of Wooster college, will be the "local boy makes good" guest of honor tomorrow night at the Ontario Community church. The Wooster alumni of Mansfield and surrounding towns will honor Dr. Wishart at a basket picnic at 6:30 p. m. Friday in the little town six miles west of Mansfield, in which Dr. Wishart was born. It will honor his birthday anniversary, which is tomorrow.

KIMMEL TELLS OF WILD LIFE

Richland Game Protector Gives Talk Before Crestline Club.

CRESTLINE—Charles I. Kimmel of Mansfield game protector of Richland county for the past 29 years, gave interesting experiences of his work and told of the change in the attitude of the people toward the protector in recent years, when he appeared as guest speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon meeting here Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A.

He spoke of the value of game wild life and how it should be defended. He pointed out the value of game preserves and gave some fishing and hunting experiences as enjoyed on his annual trips into Canada with Floyd Dent.

Jack Miner and his work with wild geese at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada, was also discussed by Mr. Kimmel.

Rev. C. H. Lange president of the club, presided and announced a patriotic program for next week's meeting on July 3.

HUSBAND, WIFE HURT IN WRECK NEAR ASHLAND

Mrs. Frances Swineford In Serious Condition After Traffic Accident.

ASHLAND—An Ashland woman, Mrs. Frances Swineford, 69, is believed seriously injured, and her husband, Howard Swineford, is also confined at Samaritan hospital, as the result of a highway accident on route 42 three miles east of Ashland Wednesday about 3:40 p. m.

Attendants at Samaritan hospital said that Mrs. Swineford and her husband had not yet been thoroughly examined for injuries, but believed that Swineford is not seriously injured, while his wife may be.

The couple were injured when Mrs. Swineford drove her light sedan on to route 42 from a county cross road, according to J. Ellis Black, 46, of Cleveland, driver of the other machine.

Black told the sheriff's department that he was traveling east on route 42 when the other car loomed before him. He said he was traveling about 45 miles an hour. The marks on the pavement showed that he skidded about 70 feet in trying to stop his machine.

His machine crashed into the Swineford car just behind the front seat, forcing the door open, and throwing Mrs. Swineford to the ground.

If the point of impact had been six inches forward in the body of the car, it is believed that both the Swinefords would have been instantly killed.

Black did not sustain any injuries, and was able to proceed to have his car fixed.

CANADA 'PEGS' WHEAT PRICES

Report Winnipeg Exchange to Be Ordered Closed.

OTTAWA —(INS)— The Winnipeg grain exchange will be ordered within the next few weeks to cease operations for the remainder of the war, it was learned in official quarters today.

A minimum price "peg" of 70 cents a bushel was imposed yesterday in trading in cash wheat. Trading in "futures" was "pegged" at 70 cents last month. Yesterday's action was taken as soon as the quotations for "futures" reached 70 cents so as to stop traders operating in cash wheat below that price.

Ashland Golfer Paces Field In Ohio Amateur

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Bob Servis, husky defending champion, waltzed into the second round of the Ohio amateur golf tourney today when he trounced Melvin Sulser, Columbus, 8 and 7. The Dayton star was three under par and six up at the end of the first nine holes.

By JOE MORTON

SHAKER HEIGHTS COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND—Golf has become a sideline for Bobby Servis, bent upon becoming a restaurateur, but fellow Ohio amateurs are ready to testify his new interest hasn't dulled his game.

The 25-year-old Daytonian teed off as defending titleholder in the state amateur tournament today at the top of the field of 64. Although the competition is his first this year, he had a low qualifying score of 70.

Bob Castor, of the Ashland Country club, paced the field of qualifiers with a one-under-par 71. His total was one over Servis' mark, but the defending champion played the qualifying round as a practice session. He was not required to qualify.

Castor, who has played in Mansfield numerous times, chipped in his ball on the 18th green to snag a 36-35. Paired against Melvin Sulser of Columbus, who shot an 80 yesterday, Servis was an odds on favorite to move to the final round.

Other qualifying leaders were John Schneider of Cleveland, Edward Ruebusch of Cincinnati, and Dick Weiser of Springfield, with 74's; and Marshall Carlson of Toledo, state intercollegiate champion, with 75.

Principal hurdle in Servis' path to the finals was Byron (Barney) Hunt of Columbus, newly-crowned state public links king, who qualified with a 76.

Three-time champion, Servis collected five birdies in putting together yesterday's low score in a field of 106 entrants. The performance brought him the tournament medal for the sixth and possibly last time, since he is forsaking "serious golf" to assist his father in operating a large Dayton restaurant. The defending champion was the only former winner in the field.

Today's pairings (with qualifying scores) included:

Beats Indians

"RED" RUFFING

Yankee Veteran Scatters Nine Hits in Topping Tribe, 3 to 1.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The pace-setting Cleveland Indians started a well-earned two-day rest from American league competition today after emerging from a 15-game home series with 12 victories.

They were scheduled for an exhibition game in Milwaukee tonight with that city's American association club, but they won't meet another league rival until Saturday at Chicago. After a two-game series with the White Sox, the Tribe returns home for a Monday night game against the St. Louis Browns.

New York's champion Yankees deprived Cleveland of a sweep of their three-game series, Joe DiMaggio's two singles beating the Tribe 3 to 1 yesterday. DiMaggio drove in all New York's runs.

Mel Harder, lasting almost the entire game, allowed six hits. Al Smith replaced him in the ninth with two out. The Indians made the same number of hits off Charlie Ruffing.

DiMaggio

On deck for the windup of the series was Frankie Pytlak, back from Buffalo and rid of his ailment. The catcher put in a timely appearance, because the mainstay—Rollie Hemsley—has been suffering from a sore left hand.

Pytlak left the Indians 10 days ago, announcing he was ill and quitting baseball. He reported to club officials his personal physician had assured him of his recovery.

It was Pytlak who scored the Indians' lone run in the series finale. Roy Weatherly walked to start the sixth inning and was forced by the midget catcher. Beau Bell and Ben Chapman singled to bring in the returned Redskin.

Mansfield Drops Two Contests to League Leaders

By CHARLES MARTIN

AS FAR as the Mansfield Braves are concerned Lima can keep its southpaw pitchers on the bench when the two clubs tangle in the future.

Mansfield, only three and a half games out of second place in the Ohio State league race before it invaded Lima last night, dropped two decisions and lost valuable ground in the circuit title chase. The scores were 6 to 3 and 3 to 2.

Playing before some 2,000 spectators, the Braves faced two portsiders, Manager Merle Settlemire and Frank Biscan. Both moundsmen were nicked for numerous hits, but the Braves couldn't produce with mates on the paths.

Fighting to gain at least one decision in the three-game series, Manager Dewey Stover will send Alex Radoumis to the hill at 8:15 tonight. He will be opposed by Preston Robertson, a righthander.

Lima's double win, coupled with Finlay's 8 to 7 loss to the Tiffin Munhens gives the Pandas first place in the league race. The Oilers had held a game lead over Lima.

Approximately 1,000 Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company employes are expected to watch the canto tonight. The new Westinghouse band, directed by Wilbur Wierman, will play for the first time since it was organized. The band, which will be on hand at 7:30, is composed of 20 employes.

George Laurila and Eatilo Angaran handled the mound duties for the Braves last night, and, while both righthanders turned in creditable performances, they made several mistakes that proved costly.

Laurila served up two home run balls which proved to be the difference between victory and defeat. In the seven-inning nightcap, Angaran, attempting to catch a runner at second, heaved the ball into centerfield to allow the winning run to score.

The way Laurila started out it looked like a pitchers' battle. He tossed Flynn a home run ball in the first inning, but settled down and gave every indication of handcuffing the Pandas.

George gave up a run in the fourth on two singles and a double and in the next stanza he was nicked for a double and triple after Harlan Kiersey hit his four-bagger.

That was the last hit off Laurila, who retired the side in order the rest of the way.

Mansfield knotted the score at 1-all in the second and then Matt Maizga hit a home run over the right field wall in the sixth to score behind Howard Beals, who had singled.

The Braves managed to get at least one hit in the other three chapters, but Settlemire, the Pandas' 38-year-old pilot, successfully halted the threats.

Herb Woodten, playing the first time against the club he was with last year, spotted Angaran to a 2 to 1 lead in the fourth inning of the second game by clouting a terrific homer over the centerfield wall. The ball soared high over the 450-foot mark and is believed to be one of the longest ever hit in Halloran park.

Dick Morse's first homer of the year—a drive over the left field wall in the second—accounted for the other run. Angaran, however, was unable to protect the advantage.

In the fifth Lima sewed up the contest. With two away, Cindric got a fluke single in right when Gene Woodlin and Hal Hundemer allowed his fly to drop between them.

Woodten tossed the ball home trying to get Flynn, who had singled, but Angaran cut off the throw and threw the ball on the ground to Beals in an effort to keep Cindric from reaching second. Cindric went all the way home on the error to break a 2-all deadlock and score what proved to be the winning run.

A feature of the game was the spectacular fielding of Hundemer, who several times in the first game made brilliant stops to rob Lima players of potential hits.

Giants Topple Cards, 10-9 In Wild Contest

National League Fans Get More Excitement; Two Teams Score 13 Runs In One Frame.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

IN THE DAYS when the New York Yankees were burning up everything in baseball, National league fans used to defend their interests by saying they got more for their money than the American league's customers.

Well, the Yanks are different, and the American league race is different, but the National league fans still get more excitement. It may not be baseball, but it's good, clean fun.

In New York, for instance, the Giants and St. Louis Cardinals came up with a ten-inning 10-9 bit of vaudeville last night.

There were five home runs in the game and 13 runs scored in one inning, the seventh, after which the whole issue still had to be decided because the score was tied at nine all.

No Broadway show has had a more dramatic climax. The Giants loaded the bases in the ninth and failed to score. They did it again in the tenth. This time Pinch-hitter Johnny McCarthy drove home the winning run with a single—his first hit of the year!

Even the doubleheader between the last-place Phillies and the plodding Pittsburgh Pirates was packed with action. Cy Blanton and Joe Bowman matched seven-hit pitching in the first game, and Johnny Rizzo, a former Pirate, brought the Phils a 4-2 victory by homering with one on in the eighth.

Then, in the second game, the Pirates punched out five runs in the second inning and won, 11-6, with a 14-hit attack that included two home runs by Spud Davis, a former Phil.

This was enough to lift the world champions back into the American league's first division as the Philadelphia Athletics subdued the St. Louis Browns, 9-4.

This victory, in turn, put Philadelphia again in seventh place and let the Washington Senators slide back to the cellar under the burden of a 7-6 defeat by the Chicago White Sox. The two teams peppered 27 hits off five pitchers.

The Boston Red Sox fought back to a 3-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers that gave the Red Sox the series and moved them within half a game of the second-place Tigers.

WOMEN PLAY

The News-Journal Women's golf league will enter its third week of competition tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the Possum Run links. Schedule for tomorrow is DeMilo Salon vs. Meders Recreation and Golden-Russell vs. Bates Candies.

American Legion Juniors to Stage Twin Bill Saturday

The Juniors will tangle with the Elyria Juniors in the first game and with Shelby in the second. The first contest is scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

On July 4 the Legion youngsters will journey to Shelby for a twin bill with the same outfits. Others doubleheaders will be played at Elyria on July 6, Mansfield July 13, and Shelby July 20.

Players Are Often Hit By Pitched Balls, But Baseball Holds Out Against Helmets

(By Associated Press)

Baseball still holds out against helmets although players are often hit on the head by pitched balls. There was talk of adopting protective headgear several years ago when Mickey Cochrane was felled, but nothing came of it. Bill Jurges of the Giants and Joe Medwick of the Dodgers (upper left) were the last hit. Rookie Hal Reese of the Dodgers was carried off the field in Chicago June 1 (upper right) after being struck. All were hospitalized. Here is one of the proposed helmets as demonstrated by Lamar Newsome shortly after he was hit in 1939 while with the Athletics.

TEAM WANTS GAMES

AKRON YANKS SOAR INTO THIRD IN MID-ATLANTIC

AKRON—(AP)—Akron's Yankees occupied the No. 3 spot in the Mid-Atlantic league standings today after last night's double defeat of the second-place Charleston Senators.

Akron took both games by one-run margins, 8 to 7 and 5 to 4. First Baseman Steve Souchock's homer with one on in the second game gave the Yanks their margin of victory. The other four teams were kept idle by rain.

Today's schedule: Canton at [illegible]ton, Akron at Yo[illegible]n.

McLemore Says Galento-Baer Bout to Be Worst In History

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — I have it from the very highest authority that Max Baer and Tony Galento will put up the worst heavyweight fight in history when they meet in Jersey City Tuesday night. My authorities are none other than Baer and Galento themselves.

Ever since this fight was made, months ago, the crackpot Californian and the portly zany from across the Hudson have vied with each other in putting the blast on the spectacle. It's a wonder to me that any tickets have been sold despite the tub-thumping of the promoter, the press, and interested New Jersey parties.

* * *

Take Galento's blasts, for example. At one time or another since he contracted for the fight he has called Baer everything under the sun except a good fighter. He has branded Baer as a bum, a bum who quits, a yellow bum, a worn out, tired, and exhausted bum, and a bum who couldn't lick any one of the Rover boys even with the aid of a fixed referee and a judge with a pre-marked scorecard.

Now is that anyway to encourage customers to pay as much as $12.50 for a ringside seat?

Galento made it plain that he feels that anyone who buys a ticket for Tuesday's fight is paying his money to see a pushover pushed over.

Baer has been no less emphatic in his attack on Galento as a fighter. At one time or another he has characterized Galento as a harmless old saloon keeper who couldn't bounce a noisy midget from his place of business, a hand-woven antique who will fall flat on his face after more than one round of any exercise more violent than solitaire, and a daffy, beer-guzzling wreck with only a pair of tights and a set of matching cauliflower ears to identify him as a fighting man.

* * *

What, a prospective customer is almost certain to ask himself before buying a ticket, what if both Max and Tony happen to be correct in their estimates of each other? No one likes to be made a sucker, particularly after a dozen or two clear and vibrant warnings.

Becomes Reds' 'Glamour Boy'

Joost Pleases Fans With Hitting, Fielding.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Eddie Joost has become one of the brightest spots in the Reds' horizon, not altogether clouded from their top position on the National league ladder.

The little utility infielder got his first major league home run in a recent brush with Philadelphia in a spot where it was needed. He has been observed as "usually there" on defense and Rhinelanders predict he is headed for stardom.

True, Eddie has not been burning up the track with his hitting, but neither have the rest of the Reds. Joost's average is only .221 but his hustle at shortstop has kept Billy Myers, out of the game because of an injury, on the bench for several days.

Deciding that something must be done about their weakness in clubs, the Reds returned home with the hope that a bit of batting practice today would bolster their batting before an encounter with the Cubs Friday night.

Paul Derringer, who usually beats the Cubs, was given the mound assignment. Jim Turner, who won his last two starts, was scheduled to work Saturday with Bucky Walters and Junior Thompson chucking the doubleheader Sunday.

HIGHLIGHTS COON DERBY

PLAIN CITY —(INS)— A $1,500 race will highlight the Fourth of July Ohio coon dog derby at the Plain City fairgrounds, it was announced today. Of the amount, $1,000 will be distributed in heat money and $500 to the two finalists.

Southpaw Is Big Surprise

Northwestern Star Beats Favorite in Net Meet.

Overlooked in the seedings, Greenberg bowled over the seventh ranked William Gillespie in the third round yesterday as the original field of 67 was narrowed to 16 in a single day.

Greenberg's performance overshadowed victories turned in by top-seeded Don McNeill of Kenyon. Joe Hunt of Navy and Frank Guernsey, the defending champion from Rice institute.

McNeill was hard pressed to down Ed Kilgus of Pennsylvania, 6-3, 6-3.

* * *

Hey, No Cheating, George!

Should a husband attempt to teach his wife how to play golf? No, not when the wife is Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, famous girl athlete and a golfer who can match the best of the men players. Her husband is the well-known wrestler, George Zaharias, who has taken up golf with a bango. The two are shown in Chicago.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Yanks didn't win a series in the west. Max Baer: "If Tony Galento pulls any rough stuff, I'll walk out in the middle of the fight." Well, we wouldn't be surprised. . . . Can't confirm 'em, but the upstate air is filled with rumors the N. B. A. will call it quits at the next convention.

* * *

Larry MacPhail is feuding with the radio again because the Dodger game was cut off Tuesday night in favor of a phonograph record of the Hoover speech.

BEAN BALL DEP'T.

The Sporting News and others are waging a campaign to stop beaning by having players wear helmets while batting . . . strangely enough, the opposition group leaders are the Messrs. Hank Leiber, Joe Medwick and Pee Wee Reese . . . they want no part of the head guard idea.

What'll you bet Nile Kinnick doesn't play pro football, after all? Washington asked and got waivers on Zeke Bonura, and it looks like Jersey City for old bananas. . . . Al Simmons has made a good eight straight pinch-hitting tries for the Athletics. It's too bad there's no department for such feats in the record books.

SMASHING PAR.

Golfer Bill Blankensop of Moundsville, W. Va., whanged a drive straight down the middle . . . the ball and a robin collided in midair and fell to the fairway—He fired a drive into the air,

It hit a robin, fair and square;
"Too bad," cried Bill as he dashed up,
"They didn't fall into the cup."

NAMES IN THE NEWS.

Henry Armstrong sang one of his own compositions over the air the other night, and both were O. K. . . . Msss Adelaide Erwin of Rochester is authorizing a biography of Rabbit Maranville which ought to make hilarious reading . . . Larry French Calls Carl Hubbell the greatest pitcher he ever saw—a swell tribute from one fine twirler to another.

Moose, Nick's, Kobackers Score League Victories

Moose, Nick's Place and Kobacker's softball clubs clicked off wins in last night's Y. M. C. A. Commercial league contests.

The Moose club outpointed the Tappans, 7 to 4, while Nick's Place swamped the Service Cabs 11 to 4 and Kobacker's outslugged the Town Taverns 18 to 12.

Weber, Tappan Stove's shortstop, managed to smash out the only home run of the three league games. Laipply, Moose second baseman, was the only league diamond artist to bat a thousand, garnering three hits out of three trips to the plate.

* * *

Winning pitchers in last night's contests were: Brown of the Moose club, Gross of the Nick's outfit, and Rachel of the Kobacker's team. Losing pitchers were: Kleer, Tappan Stoves, Gilde, Service Cabs, and Simpson, Town Taverns.

* * *

Barnes Challengers also defeated the Isaly, 6 to 5, at the North Lake park diamond in a Commercial league contest. The box score was not turned in.

CROW HUNTERS TO DRAW FOR POSITIONS AT SHOOT

KENTON— (AP) — Crow hunters will draw for positions tonight in the sixth annual National crow hunters championship shoot to be held here Saturday.

Hunters will be scored on ability to use crow calls, number of birds killed and other factors. James W. Stuber of Vandalia, O., will be the official referee.

Wind Up Series Still Tied For Third Position.

(By Associated Press)

While Minneapolis is working overtime to prevent Kansas City from making a run-a-way of the American Association race, four other clubs are having private duels of their own.

Milwaukee and Columbus, for instance, wound up their third place showdown series last night all even and still deadlocked in the standings, which showed each with 28 victories and 30 defeats.

Columbus blasted away for nine runs in the ninth to break a 3-3 tie, win 12 to 3 and square their important series.

St. Paul won its fourth straight game and advanced within one game of fifth place Louisville by spanking Indianapolis, 7 to 2.

Louisville got away to a 5 to 0 lead over Minneapolis, but was shut out thereafter by Relief Pitcher Elon Hogsett and lost, 6 to 5. The victory cut Kansas City's lead to a game and a half when the Kansas City-Toledo game was called after eight innings with the score tied six all to enable the Toledo team to catch a train.

Ashland Golfer Paces Field In Ohio Amateur

BULLETIN

CLEVELAND—(U P)—Bob Servis, husky defending champion, waltzed into the second round of the Ohio amateur golf tourney today when he trounced Melvin Sulser, Columbus, 8 and 7. The Dayton star was three under par and six up at the end of the first nine holes.

By JOE MORTON

SHAKER HEIGHTS COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND—Golf has become a sideline for Bobby Servis, bent upon becoming a restaurateur, but fellow Ohio amateurs are ready to testify his new interest hasn't dulled his game.

The 25-year-old Daytonian teed off as defending titleholder in the state amateur tournament today at the top of the field of 64. Although the competition is his first this year, he had a low qualifying score of 70.

Bob Castor, of the Ashland Country club, paced the field of qualifiers with a one-under-par 71. His total was one over Servis mark, but the defending champion played the qualifying round as a practice session. He was not required to qualify.

Castor, who has played in Mansfield numerous times, chipped in his ball on the 18th green to snag a 36-35. Paired against Melvin Sulser of Columbus, who shot an 80 yesterday, Servis was an odds on favorite to move to the final round.

* * *

Other qualifying leaders were John Schneider of Cleveland, Edward Ruebusch of Cincinnati, and Dick Weiser of Springfield, with 74's; and Marshall Carlson of Toledo, state intercollegiate champion, with 75.

Principal hurdle in Servis' path to the finals was Byron (Barney) Hunt of Columbus, newly-crowned state public links king, who qualified with a 76.

Three-time champion, Servis collected five birdies in putting together yesterday's low score in a field of 106 entrants. The performance brought him the tournament medal for the sixth and possibly last time, since he is forsaking "serious golf" to assist his father in operating a large Dayton restaurant. The defending champion was the only former winner in the field.

Yesterday's competition, beset by wind, rain and hail, ended with eight players tied at 84 for the 64th qualifying berth, necessitating a playoff. The winner was Dick Brausch, 22-year-old Cincinnati law student.

Today's pairings (with qualifying scores) included:

FIRST ROUND
Upper Bracket.

Joe Oxhyle Cleveland (79) vs C F Sweeney Middletown (82)

Beats Indians

"RED" RUFFING

Yankee Veteran Scatters Nine Hits in Topping Tribe, 3 to 1.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The pace-setting Cleveland Indians started a well-earned two-day rest from American league competition today after emerging from a 15-game home series with 12 victories.

They were scheduled for an exhibition game in Milwaukee tonight with that city's American association club, but they won't meet another league rival until Saturday at Chicago. After a two-game series with the White Sox, the Tribe returns home for a Monday night game against the St. Louis Browns.

New York's champion Yankees deprived Cleveland of a sweep of their three-game series, Joe DiMaggio's two singles beating the Tribe 3 to 1 yesterday. DiMaggio drove in all New York's runs.

Mel Harder, lasting almost the entire game, allowed six hits. Al Smith replaced him in the ninth with two out. The Indians made the same number of hits off Charlie Ruffing.

DiMaggio

On deck for the windup of the series was Frankie Pytlak, back from Buffalo and rid of his ailment. The catcher put in a timely appearance, because the mainstay—Rollie Hemsley—has been suffering from a sore left hand.

Pytlak left the Indians 10 days ago, announcing he was ill and quitting baseball. He reported to club officials his personal physician had assured him of his recovery.

It was Pytlak who scored the Indians' lone run in the series finale. Roy Weatherly walked to start the sixth inning and was forced by the midget catcher, Beau Bell and Ben Chapman singled to bring in the returned Redskin.

Mansfield Drops Two Contests to League Leaders

By CHARLES MARTIN

AS FAR as the Mansfield Braves are concerned Lima can keep its southpaw pitchers on the bench when the two clubs tangle in the future.

Mansfield, only three and a half games out of second place in the Ohio State league race before it invaded Lima last night, dropped two decisions and lost valuable ground in the circuit title chase. The scores were 6 to 3 and 3 to 2.

Playing before some 2,000 spectators, the Braves faced two portsiders, Manager Merle Settlemire and Frank Biscan. Both moundsmen were nicked for numerous hits, but the Braves couldn't produce with mates on the paths.

Fighting to gain at least one decision in the three-game series, Manager Dewey Stover will send Alex Radoumis to the hill at 8:15 tonight. He will be opposed by Preston Robertson, a righthander.

Lima's double win, coupled with Finlay's 8 to 7 loss to the Tiffin Munhens gives the Pandas first place in the league race. The Oilers had held a game lead over Lima.

Approximately 1,000 Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company employes are expected to watch the canto tonight. The new Westinghouse band, directed by Wilbur Wierman, will play for the first time since it was organized. The band, which will be on hand at 7:30, is composed of 20 employes.

George Laurila and Eatilo Angaran handled the mound duties for the Braves last night, and, while both righthanders turned in creditable performances, they made several mistakes that proved costly.

Laurila served up two home run balls which proved to be the difference between victory and defeat. In the seven-inning nightcap, Angaran, attempting to catch a runner at second, heaved the ball into centerfield to allow the winning run to score.

The way Laurila started out it looked like a pitchers' battle. He tossed Flynn a home run ball in the first inning, but settled down and gave every indication of handcuffing the Pandas.

George gave up a run in the fourth on two singles and a double and in the next stanza he was nicked for a double and triple after Harlan Kiersey hit his four-bagger.

That was the last hit off Laurila, who retired the side in order the rest of the way.

Mansfield knotted the score at 1-all in the second and then Matt Maizga hit a home run over the right field wall in the sixth to score behind Howard Beals, who had singled.

The Braves managed to get at least one hit in the other three chapters, but Settlemire, the Pandas' 38-year-old pilot, successfully halted the threats.

Herb Woodten, playing the first time against the club he was with last year, spotted Angaran to a 2 to 1 lead in the fourth inning of the second game by clouting a terrific homer over the centerfield wall. The ball soared high over the 450-foot mark and is believed to be one of the longest ever hit in Halloran park.

Dick Morse's first homer of the year—a drive over the left field wall in the second—accounted for the other run. Angaran, however, was unable to protect the advantage.

In the fifth Lima sewed up the contest. With two away, Cindric got a fluke single in right when Gene Woodlin and Hal Hundemer allowed his fly to drop between them.

Woodten tossed the ball home trying to get Flynn, who had singled, but Angaran cut off the throw and threw the ball on the ground to Beals in an effort to keep Cindric from reaching second. Cindric went all the way home on the error to break a 2-all deadlock and score what proved to be the winning run.

A feature of the game was the spectacular fielding of Hundemer, who several times in the first game made brilliant stops to rob Lima players of potential hits.

Giants Topple Cards, 10-9 In Wild Contest

National League Fans Get More Excitement; Two Teams Score 13 Runs In One Frame.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

IN THE DAYS when the New York Yankees were burning up everything in baseball, National league fans used to defend their interests by saying they got more for their money than the American league's customers.

Well, the Yanks are different, and the American league race is different, but the National league fans still get more excitement. It may not be baseball, but it's good, clean fun.

In New York, for instance, the Giants and St. Louis Cardinals came up with a ten-inning 10-9 bit of vaudeville last night.

There were five home runs in the game and 13 runs scored in one inning, the seventh, after which the whole issue still had to be decided because the score was tied at nine all.

No Broadway show has had a more dramatic climax. The Giants loaded the bases in the ninth and failed to score. They did it again in the tenth. This time Pinch-hitter Johnny McCarthy drove home the winning run with a single—his first hit of the year!

Even the doubleheader between the last-place Phillies and the plodding Pittsburgh Pirates was packed with action. Cy Blanton and Joe Bowman matched seven-hit pitching in the first game, and Johnny Rizzo, a former Pirate, brought the Phils a 4-2 victory by homering with one on in the eighth.

Then, in the second game, the Pirates punched out five runs in the second inning and won, 11-6, with a 14-hit attack that included two home runs by Spud Davis, a former Phil.

This was enough to lift the world champions back into the American league's first division as the Philadelphia Athletics subdued the St. Louis Browns, 9-4.

This victory, in turn, put Philadelphia again in seventh place and let the Washington Senators slide back to the cellar under the burden of a 7-6 defeat by the Chicago White Sox. The two teams peppered 27 hits off five pitchers.

The Boston Red Sox fought back to a 3-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers that gave the Red Sox the series and moved them within half a game of the second-place Tigers.

WOMEN PLAY

The News-Journal Women's golf league will enter its third week of competition tomorrow at 1 p. m. at the Possum Run links. Schedule for tomorrow is DeMilo Salon vs. Meders Recreation and Golden-Russell vs. Bates Candies.

American Legion Juniors to Stage Twin Bill Saturday

The Juniors will tangle with the Elyria Juniors in the first game and with Shelby in the second. The first contest is scheduled for 1:30 p. m.

On July 4 the Legion youngsters will journey to Shelby for a twin bill with the same outfits. Others doubleheaders will be played at Elyria on July 6, Mansfield July 13, and Shelby July 20.

(By Associated Press)

Baseball still holds out against helmets although players are often hit on the head by pitched balls. There was talk of adopting protective headgear several years ago when Mickey Cochrane was felled, but nothing came of it. Bill Jurges of the Giants and Joe Medwick of the Dodgers (upper left) were the last hit. Rookie Hal Reese of the Dodgers was carried off the field in Chicago June 1 (upper right) after being struck. All were hospitalized. Here is one of the proposed helmets as demonstrated by Lamar Newsome shortly after he was hit in 1939 while with the Athletics.

TEAM WANTS GAMES

AKRON YANKS SOAR INTO THIRD IN MID-ATLANTIC

AKRON—(AP)—Akron's Yanks occupied the No. 3 spot in the Mid-Atlantic league standings today after last night's double defeat by the second-place Charleston Senators.

Akron took both games on one-run margins, 8 to 7 and 5 to 4. First Baseman Steve Sundock's homer with one on in the second gave the Yanks their margin of victory in the opener. Four hours were required to play the game.

McLemore Says Galento-Baer Bout to Be Worst In History

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — I have it from the very highest authority that Max Baer and Tony Galento will put up the worst heavyweight fight in history when they meet in Jersey City Tuesday night. My authorities are none other than Baer and Galento themselves.

Ever since this fight was made, months ago, the crackpot Californian and the portly zany from across the Hudson have vied with each other in putting the blast on the spectacle. It's a wonder to me that any tickets have been sold despite the tub-thumping of the promoter, the press, and interested New Jersey parties.

* * *

Take Galento's blasts, for example. At one time or another since he contracted for the fight he has called Baer everything under the sun except a good fighter. He has branded Baer as a bum a bum who quits, a yellow bum, a worn out, tired, and exhausted bum, and a bum who couldn't lick any one of the Rover boys even with the aid of a fixed referee and a judge with a pre-marked scorecard.

As Tony sees it, the fight won't last long enough for the less agile spectators to reach their seats.

Now is that anyway to encourage customers to pay as much as $12.50 for a ringside seat?

Galento made it plain that he feels that anyone who buys a ticket for Tuesday's fight is paying his money to see a pushover pushed over.

Baer has been no less emphatic in his attack on Galento as a fighter. At one time or another he has characterized Galento as a harmless old saloon keeper who couldn't bounce a noisy midget from his place of business, a hand-woven antique who will fall flat on his face after more than one round of any exercise more violent than solitaire, and a daffy, beer-guzzling wreck with only a pair of tights and a set of matching cauliflower ears to identify him as a fighting man.

* * *

What, a prospective customer is almost certain to ask himself before buying a ticket, what if both Max and Tony happen to be correct in their estimates of each other? No one likes to be made a sucker, particularly after a dozen or two clear and vibrant warnings.

Becomes Reds' 'Glamour Boy'

Joost Pleases Fans With Hitting, Fielding.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Eddie Joost has become one of the brightest spots in the Reds' horizon, not altogether clouded from their top position on the National league ladder.

The little utility infielder got his first major league home run in a recent brush with Philadelphia in a spot where it was needed. He has been observed as "usually there" on defense and Rhinelanders predict he is headed for stardom.

True, Eddie has not been burning up the track with his hitting, but neither have the rest of the Reds. Joost's average is only .221 but his hustle at shortstop has kept Billy Myers out of the game because of an injury, on the bench for several days.

Deciding that something must be done about their weakness in clubs, the Reds returned home with the hope that a bit of batting practice today would bolster their batting before an encounter with the Cubs Friday night.

Paul Derringer, who usually beats the Cubs, was given the mound assignment Jim Turner, who won his last two starts, was scheduled to work Saturday with Bucky Walters and Junior Thompson chucking the doubleheader Sunday.

HIGHLIGHTS COON DERBY

PLAIN CITY —(INS)— A $1,500 race will highlight the Fourth of July Ohio coon dog derby at the Plain City fairgrounds, it was announced today. Of the amount, $1,000 will be distributed in heat money and $500 to the two finalists.

Southpaw Is Big Surprise

Northwestern Star Beats Favorite in Net Meet.

Overlooked in the seedings, Greenberg bowled over the seventh ranked William Gillespie in the third round yesterday as the original field of 67 was narrowed to 16 in a single day.

Greenberg eliminated Gillespie in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1 Gillespie, represents Miami university

Greenberg's performance overshadowed victories turned in by top-seeded Don McNeill of Kenyon, Joe Hunt of Navy and Frank Guernsey, the defending champion from Rice institute

McNeill was hard pressed to down Ed Kilgus of Pennsylvania, 6-3, 6-3.

* * *

Hey, No Cheating, George!

Should a husband attempt to teach his wife how to play golf? No, not when the wife is Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, famous girl athlete and a golfer who can match the best of the men players. Her husband is the well-known wrestler, George Zaharias, who has taken up golf with a bango. The two are shown in Chicago.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — The Yanks didn't win a series in the west. Max Baer: "If Tony Galento pulls any rough stuff, I'll walk out in the middle of the fight." Well, we wouldn't be surprised. . . . Can't confirm 'em, but the upstate air is filled with rumors the N. B. A. will call it quits at the next convention.

BEAN BALL DEP'T.

The Sporting News and others are waging a campaign to stop beaning by having players wear helmets while batting . . . strangely enough, the opposition group leaders are the Messrs Hank Leiber, Joe Medwick and Pee Wee Reese . . . they want no part of the head guard idea

What'll you bet Nile Kinnick doesn't play pro football, after all? Washington asked and got waivers on Zeke Bonura, and it looks like Jersey City for old bananas . . . Al Simmons has made a good eight straight pinch-hitting tries for the Athletics. It's too bad there's no department for such feats in the record books.

Moose, Nick's, Kobackers Score League Victories

Moose, Nick's Place and Kobacker's softball clubs clicked off wins in last night's Y. M. C. A. Commercial league contests.

The Moose club outpointed the Tappans, 7 to 4, while Nick's Place swamped the Service Cabs 11 to 4 and Kobacker's outslugged the Town Taverns 18 to 12.

Weber, Tappan Stove's shortstop, managed to smash out the only home run of the three league games. Laipply, Moose second baseman, was the only league diamond artist to bat a thousand, garnering three hits out of three trips to the plate.

* * *

Winning pitchers in last night's contests were: Brown of the Moose club, Gross of the Nick's outfit, and Rachel of the Kobacker's team. Losing pitchers were: Kleer, Tappan Stoves, Glide, Service Cabs, and Simpson, Town Taverns.

Barnes Challengers also defeated the Isaly, 6 to 5, at the North Lake park diamond in a Commercial league contest. The box score was not turned in.

CROW HUNTERS TO DRAW FOR POSITIONS AT SHOOT

KENTON— (AP) — Crow hunters will draw for positions tonight in the sixth annual National crow hunters championship shoot to be held here Saturday.

Hunters will be scored on ability to use crow calls, number of birds killed and other factors. James W. Stuber of Vandalia, O., will be the official referee.

Millers, Birds In Deadlock

Wind Up Series Still Tied For Third Position.

(By Associated Press)

While Minneapolis is working overtime to prevent Kansas City from making a run-a-way of the American Association race, four other clubs are having private duels of their own.

Milwaukee and Columbus, for instance, wound up their third place showdown series last night all even and still deadlocked in the standings, which showed each with 28 victories and 30 defeats.

Columbus blasted away for nine runs in the ninth to break a 3-3 tie, win 12 to 3 and square their important series.

St. Paul won its fourth straight game and advanced within one game of fifth place Louisville by spanking Indianapolis, 7 to 2.

Louisville got away to a 5 to 0 lead over Minneapolis, but was shut out thereafter by Relief Pitcher Elon Hogsett and lost, 6 to 5. The victory cut Kansas City's lead to a game and a half when the Kansas City-Toledo game was called after eight innings with the score tied six all to enable the Toledo team to catch a train.
